Statutory Safeguarding Partners

As the statutory safeguarding partners for North Yorkshire, we are proud to present this annual report, reflecting our shared commitment to safeguarding children and young people across our communities.

In 2024 - 2025, our partnership has continued to evolve and strengthen, guided by the Being Young in North Yorkshire strategy and the established priorities we set ourselves at the start of this year. These priorities reflect our collective ambition to ensure that every child in North Yorkshire is safe, supported, and able to thrive.

Together, we have committed to:

- Strengthening the role of education in safeguarding, recognising schools and settings as key partners in identifying and responding to risk.
- Improving early intervention and prevention, ensuring children and families receive timely, effective support.
- Enhancing contextual safeguarding, with a focus on tackling exploitation, online harm, and serious youth violence.
- Embedding learning from safeguarding practice reviews, audits, and lived experience into everyday practice.
- Promoting the voice of children and families, ensuring services are shaped by those who use them.
- Aligning with national reforms, including the Working Together to Safeguard Children guidance and the Families First Partnership Programme.

Sir Stuart Carlton Corporate Director
of Children and Young People's Services, North Yorkshire Council

Catherine Clarke Assistant
Chief Constable, North
Yorkshire Police

In February 2025, North Yorkshire was subject to a Joint Targeted Area Inspection (JTAI), which provided a valuable opportunity to reflect on our multi-agency safeguarding arrangements. The inspection highlighted areas of strength and identified opportunities for development. Importantly, the process brought our safeguarding partners even closer together, reinforcing our shared accountability and deepening our commitment to collaborative working. The learning from the JTAI has directly informed our priorities for 2025 - 2026 and strengthened our resolve to deliver a joined-up, child-centred approach across all services.

The introduction of the Families First Bill and accompanying reforms marks a significant opportunity to reshape how we work together. In North Yorkshire, we are embracing this change. These reforms will bring our safeguarding partners even closer together, creating a more integrated, responsive, and compassionate system of support for children and families.

We remain united in our ambition to ensure that every child in North Yorkshire grows up safe, supported, and able to achieve their full potential. We are grateful to all professionals, volunteers, and community members who contribute to this vital work every day.

Together, we will continue to evolve, innovate, and deliver, always with the best interests of children at the heart of everything we do.

Independent Scrutineer and Chair's Statement

NYSCP Scrutineer Annual Summary:

I have undertaken the role of Executive Chair and Independent Scrutineer for NYSCP since January 2023 and as such this is the third NYSCP Annual Report that I will contribute to. In line with statutory requirements and the national guidance outlined in Working Together to Safeguard Children 2023 this annual scrutineer summary contains information relation to partnership activity over the period 1 April 2024 to 31 March 2025.

Introduction:

The role of the Independent Scrutineer is outlined in Working Together to Safeguard Children 2023 as the provision of independent oversight and assurance that safeguarding arrangements across the partnership are robust, child-centred, and compliant with statutory and local requirements. This scrutiny ensures that agencies are working together effectively to protect children, and that processes and outcomes are being reviewed regularly to enhance safeguarding practices.

The Role of Executive Chair and Independent Scrutineer in North Yorkshire:

In North Yorkshire in addition to the role I perform as the Independent Scrutineer I also act as Executive Chair to the Executive Group to provide safeguarding partners and relevant agencies with rigorous, effective support and challenge at both strategic and operational level. The Executive Chair function supports the three statutory partners as the function facilitates the independent scrutiny and challenge within meetings, but the role further supports all three Delegated Safeguarding Partners (DSPs) to focus on the agenda, discussions and decision-making. This further assists with the smooth and efficient running of the meeting, facilitation of discussion and keeps the conversation focused and balanced. The discharge of the Executive Chair role is supported through regular communication with the NYC Head of Safeguarding Partnerships and NYSCP Business Team.

In line with Working Together 2023 the decision on how best to implement a robust system of independent scrutiny is made locally with the aim that the system in place leads to objective and rigorous analysis of local arrangements at both strategic and operational level. The role supports the partnership drive for continuous improvement and assurance that arrangements work effectively for children, families and practitioners and adds value to the work of the partnership. This role contributes to the wider system of assurance and accountability, and this includes:

- Assurance and accountability action undertaken at the request of the three statutory partners
- Wider partnership activity (such as quality assurance, performance management and learning frameworks)
- Independent Inspectorate Inspections

The scrutiny role is in line and compliant with Working Together 2023 in that the Executive Chair functions and scrutiny activity are separate. The Independent Scrutineer acts as a “critical friend” to the partnership and provides opportunities to ensure the voices of children and families are considered and encourages reflection relating to frontline practice.

Independent Scrutineer and Chair's Statement

NYSCP Multi-Agency Safeguarding Arrangements (MASA):

During December 2023 the government published the updated statutory guidance Working Together to Safeguard Children 2023. This revised guidance provided essential direction for safeguarding partners and relevant agencies, outlining key roles and responsibilities for organisations and individuals in relation to ensuring a coordinated and effective response to safeguarding children. The updated guidance emphasised stronger collaboration, accountability and enhanced roles for education settings. The guidance required an updated MASA document to be published by December 2024 that outlined the revised safeguarding arrangements.

As outlined in last year's annual report the NYSCP Business Team have co-ordinated and led on a whole system review of safeguarding children's arrangements in North Yorkshire. The review identified that the existing strong partnership arrangements and governance structures meant that much of the way of working was already compliant with new guidance, however, a series of development sessions led to the strengthening of the role of education within the partnership and the creation of improved efficiency and effectiveness across subgroup activity. The new MASA arrangements were published by the government-imposed deadline, in December 2024.

Governance and Leadership:

The MASA and this year's annual report both articulate the robust governance arrangements that exist in North Yorkshire. Working Together 2023 introduced the Lead Safeguarding Partner (LSP) role within the three statutory organisations (Humber and North Yorkshire ICB North Yorkshire Council and North Yorkshire Police), and a joint North Yorkshire and City of York LSP annual meeting will commence from 2025, and the meeting will involve LSP and Delegated Safeguarding Partner (DSP) leads with a focus on providing assurance that safeguarding systems are in place and working well, with the identification of collaboration opportunities, cross-cutting themes and the sharing of good practice.

A Safeguarding Partners Strategic Group brings together the NYSCP DSPs at least four times a year, and this support the joint discharge of the Partnership Chair obligations outlined in Working Together 2023. The meeting is reflective of activity undertaken and used to proactively plan for the future. This is a collaborative way of working and shows the strength of mature partnership relationships that exist in North Yorkshire.

The Executive Group is driven by the DSPs, strategic leads and heads of service from partners organisations. The partnership benefits from the involvement of the Chief Executive of North Yorkshire Youth, representing the voluntary sector and the Head of North Yorkshire Probation Delivery, together with membership including NYC - Assistant Director for Education and Skills; Children and Young People's Service; Housing; Inclusion and the NYC Assistant Chief Executive for Localities. The Executive meetings are solidly supported by the NYSCP Business Team who coordinate a forward plan that includes assurance reporting, oversight of learning activity, performance information and the tracking of action plans.

Independent Scrutineer and Chair's Statement

The governance framework includes a clearly articulated escalation pathway, and this is anticipated to only be utilised in exceptional circumstances, with DSP leads utilising existing mechanisms within their own organisations to brief LSPs on safeguarding activity.

During the reporting period (February 2025) a Joint Targeted Area Inspection (JTAI) relating to multi-agency responses to unborn children and those aged 0 – 7 years who are victims of domestic abuse took place. JTAI Inspections rigorously inspect multi-agency practice. The concluding report highlighted the strength of partnership working across North Yorkshire and identified areas of good practice, with the learning informing 2025 – 2026 priorities and actions integrated into learning activity.

Partnership Working and Engagement with Relevant Agencies:

In response to the findings of the whole-system review undertaken in response to Working Together 2023, two new partnership groups have been formalised and embedded within the framework.

- The role of education within the partnership has been strengthened with the formal adoption of the Education Subgroup into the governance structure. The group support planning and delivery of the DSL Conference, Network Briefings and performance information oversight of attendance.
- The launch of the Practitioner Forum brings together frontline practitioners to share experiences, identify emerging issues and influence and shape future practice. This forum also ensures the voices of children and families are utilised to develop and strengthen practice.

The merging of the Learning Improvement and Practice and Development Subgroups into the Practice and Learning Subgroup has embedded and developed this newly formed group into an 'engine room' style model. The embedding of this new group has benefited from a strong chair with a background in quality and assurance. The group is now responsible for driving learning (including multi-agency audit work), improvement and development and has an established framework, including an action log and forward plan.

The annual report highlights some of the activity undertaken through this and wider partnership groups over the reporting period, key highlights include:

- The launching the Harmful Sexual Behaviour Strategy
- The establishment of a VCSE Group to further develop partnership links, leading to the development of communication strategies
- BeAware website material providing a well-established and contemporary resource for partner access that provides material for practical use – including online safety resources
- Bespoke cross-partnership Multi Agency Child Exploitation (MACE) performance information reviewed quarterly and the introduction of a MACE secure bulletin for relevant partners
- Designated Safeguarding Lead (DSL) Conference and termly DSL Network Briefings for schools and education providers
- Development of 'twilight' training sessions for early years providers
- Creation of a Schools and Early Years page on the NYSCP website containing information and guidance specifically for schools and providers

Independent Scrutineer and Chair's Statement

In line with arrangements, two NYSCP Development Days took place during 2024 to 2025. These days are an excellent way of bringing together statutory partner and relevant agency leads from across North Yorkshire to review and assess the effectiveness of the local arrangements. The sessions are themed on topical and important aspects and always well attended.

Safeguarding Policies and Procedures, Learning and Development:

The new Being Young in North Yorkshire (BYNNY) Strategy was launched (2025 – 2028) with the four strategic priorities remaining the same: Happy; Healthy; Safe and Achieving. The strategy and annual report details work over the course of 2024 that led to the development of the final strategy. Consultation took place with over 1000 partnership representatives attending events and providing feedback to develop the new strategy. Consultation work also involved speaking to young people, parents and carers. The resulting strategy is highly creative built around a powerful metaphor; the tree that helps visualise and describe the whole-system approach to safeguarding. The strategy provides a clear focus, guidance, outline of roles and responsibilities and framework for strengthened practice.

Over the course of the reporting period, the NYSCP Business Team coordinated development activity relating to the School Safeguarding Audit. There was tangible strength in this being a collaborative approach that brought together partners from schools, the Local Authority School Improvement Team and a range of relevant strategic leads. Throughout schools were consulted including through a dedicated knowledge hub on the website and drop-in sessions. The resulting audit tool has been aligned with national standards and best practice, supported by schools who see the value in undertaking this important audit of practice. The findings and recommendations will be shared over the course of 2025.

There is an established programme of audit activity with themed audit activity over the reporting period, including Children Missing from Home and Care; Harmful Sexual Behaviour and Serious Youth Violence (Mock JTAI). Key findings were identified that included strengths of practice and areas for development. Action plans were developed, monitored and tracked through the PLS Subgroup. Briefings in relation to the audit work and outcomes have been disseminated and these are visually impactful.

The Section 11 Governance Audit is coordinated by NYSCP: North Yorkshire Safeguarding Adult Board (NYSAB) and City of York Safeguarding Adult Board (CYSAB). This is a two-year cycle, and work has been ongoing by the three partnerships in early 2025 to progress the audit tool and methodology to be adopted for the forthcoming year. The learning from the 2023 to 2024 audit is available on the NYSCP website.

Learning from National and Local Case Reviews:

This is a key area of strength within the NYSCP arrangements. The Safeguarding Practice Review Group (SPRG) oversees and coordinates learning gathered from both national and local reviews. This subgroup work is robustly and sensitively chaired by the Designated Doctor for Safeguarding and Children in Care. The group have developed effective skills and experience in relation to maximising and evidencing learning from case review work. Action Plans are developed from recommendations, and these are monitored and tracked by the NYSCP Business Team. The Chair regularly presents assurance reports to the Executive in relation to the status of ongoing cases. The NYSCP have a suite of Briefing Papers that are published on the Learning for Professionals webpage that share learning widely across the partnership. The annual report reflects learning from reviews undertaken over the reporting period.

Outcomes for Children and Young People:

The Growing up in North Yorkshire (GUINY) survey is an invaluable source of information directly outlining the wishes and feelings of children from across North Yorkshire. This is a fantastic resource for the partnership with over 17,000 children participating in the 2024 survey.

The annual report highlights the important work undertaken with children and young people within North Yorkshire. This includes the strengthening of approach by ensuring that children's views, wishes and feelings are evidenced in strategy, audit, learning and practice. The partnership utilises existing engagement groups to provide insight and feedback, including underrepresented groups to ensure practice is tailored to need.

Quality Assurance and Information Sharing:

North Yorkshire have a robust performance framework with partnership information and analysis being presented at both Executive and Subgroup meetings quarterly by the NYC Performance lead. The information is scrutinised, and emerging issues, patterns and trends discussed and actioned. Over the course of the reporting period, some in-depth work was taken to understand increasing demand for services. The deep dive identified that whilst demand had increased the referrals met the threshold, children and families who needed help and support received it, and services had coping mechanisms in place to manage the increased demand. Whilst demand remained high at the conclusion of the year, the growth in the number of referrals had slowed. North Yorkshire demand reflects the national picture. Wider performance information is used to assess quality and effectiveness and inform wider assurance activity, such as multi-agency audit and identification of priorities.

Growing Up in North Yorkshire

A summary of the Growing Up in North Yorkshire survey 2024

These results are the compilation of data collected from children and young people in the majority of schools in North Yorkshire during the Summer Term 2024. This survey was commissioned by the North Yorkshire Children and Young People's Service (CYPS), North Yorkshire Public Health and North Yorkshire Police Service to collect reliable information about young people's learning and wellbeing. This is the tenth such large survey completed in North Yorkshire, following nine studies between 2006 and 2022.

Introduction from Stuart Carlow
Corporate Director, Children & Young People's Service

"Nearly a quarter of the way through this century, I am delighted that over 15,000 children have again participated in our biennial 'Growing Up in North Yorkshire' survey 2024. We now have over a decade's worth of data on what really matters to the children and young people in our county and it is more important than ever that they know we are listening to them and acting on their opinions, experiences and needs. Our council's 'Being Young in North Yorkshire' strategy and vision stating that 'All children and young people are safe, happy, healthy and able to achieve in North Yorkshire' is as true today as when it was first envisaged in 2021. The survey therefore provides us with that all-important insight into the lives of children and young people and is used by an array of professionals to focus support where it is needed the most in order to reduce health inequalities and maximise the health and wellbeing of the next generation in our society."

Areas of Interest

Among the findings from these young people in North Yorkshire, we see many welcome results and several positive trends. There are also some results and trends in young people's perceptions and behaviours that indicate there is still more work to do.

Independent Scrutineer and Chair's Statement

Summary and Conclusion:

In conclusion, in North Yorkshire there exists robust, effective and efficient multi-agency arrangements. The strategic leads work collegiately, with mature, well-developed relationships in place across the wider partnership. The relational practice model is embedded and practiced across the partnership. North Yorkshire consistently show evidence of innovative practice and a real determination to evolve and adapt to national requirements and seek and implement best practice.

This annual report comprehensively outlines the multi-agency safeguarding arrangements that exist in North Yorkshire. It articulates the newly launched 2024 – 2028 Being Young in North Yorkshire (BYINNY) strategy and includes work relating to ongoing priorities and plans for future activity, together with outcomes and progress in relation to safeguarding activity throughout 2024 to 2025. The report showcases the good practice that exists across the partnership routinely undertaken by practitioners from across the ICB, Local Authority, Police and wider partners to keep children safe and ensure that children and families who need help and support, receive it at times of need.

The three statutory partners realise the benefit of funding and resourcing an enviable NYSCP Business Team function. The team are led by an outstanding NYC Head of Service who works tirelessly to drive partnership activity. They are supported by a highly motivated, multi-skilled and experienced business team who relentlessly support the partnership to deliver safeguarding children arrangements across the North Yorkshire area. This affords opportunities to be proactive, innovative, and contemporary with informative communication channels (NYSCP website, ebulletins). training and learning material, and a suite of guidance and briefings that directly support practitioners to identify and respond to safeguarding concerns and need, in compliance with national and local requirements.

The report concludes by highlighting and celebrating some of the outstanding work carried out across the area, showcasing a selection of Achievement Award nominations submitted to and recognised by the NYSCP Executive over the past year. Whilst these examples represent only a small snapshot, they offer a powerful insight into the exceptional contributions made by dedicated individuals to improve the lives of children and families in North Yorkshire.

In my role as Executive Chair and Independent Scrutineer, I have the privilege of observing first-hand the drive, unwavering energy and personal commitment demonstrated by leaders, managers and practitioners across North Yorkshire. Their collective determination to safeguard and support children is evident in all aspects of safeguarding work. I would like to take this opportunity to also acknowledge the ongoing support of the Chairs and members of the various subgroups, whose contributions are made alongside demanding responsibilities that they hold within their own organisations. Their commitment to collaborative improvement is both commendable and vital.

Finally, I would like to express my personal gratitude to the NYSCP Business Team for their continued and invaluable support in enabling me to fulfil my statutory responsibilities.

Our Safeguarding Arrangements

Lead Safeguarding Partners

In accordance with Working Together 2023, the Lead Safeguarding Partners (LSPs) have equal and joint responsibility for local safeguarding arrangements, which is underpinned by equitable and proportionate funding.

In North Yorkshire, the LSPs are:

- Chief Executive, North Yorkshire Council
- Chief Executive, Humber and North Yorkshire Integrated Care Board (ICB)
- Chief Constable, North Yorkshire Police

The LSP for the ICB performs this function in six local partnership areas.

The LSP for North Yorkshire Police performs this function in two local partnership areas (North Yorkshire and City of York).

Each LSP is responsible for discharging its own statutory and legislative duties to safeguard and promote the welfare of children. As leaders of their organisations and the statutory safeguarding partners, it is for LSPs to assure themselves that their local arrangements are effective and keep children safe. This includes systems of assurance and accountability within each of their organisations.

Delegated Safeguarding Partners

In accordance with Working Together 2023, each LSP should appoint a Delegated Safeguarding Partner, (DSP,) for its agency. DSPs should be of sufficient seniority to be able to speak with authority, take decisions on behalf of the LSP and hold their sectors to account. The DSPs should have the authority to carry out these functions, while ultimate accountability remains with the LSP as the individual responsible for the delivery of the statutory duties of the safeguarding partners.

In North Yorkshire, the DSP's are:

- Director of Children and Families, North Yorkshire Council
- Assistant Chief Constable, Local Policing and Safeguarding, North Yorkshire Police
- Place Nurse Director, Humber and North Yorkshire Integrated Care Board (ICB)

A full description of the joint functions of the LSPs and DSPs can be found in Working together to safeguard children 2023: statutory guidance (publishing.service.gov.uk).

The North Yorkshire Safeguarding Children Partnership, (NYSCP) consists of the three safeguarding organisations in North Yorkshire, namely North Yorkshire Council (NYC), the Integrated Care Boards (ICB) and North Yorkshire Police (NYP).

Strong, joined-up leadership and clear accountability is critical to effective multiagency safeguarding and the LSPs and DSPs in North Yorkshire are committed to a partnership model that focuses on continuous learning and improvement with a clear line of sight on frontline safeguarding practice. All leaders will promote a shared commitment to work together to improve outcomes for children and their families.

North Yorkshire and City of York statutory safeguarding partners have agreed, in October 2024, that from 2025, joint meetings will take place with the LSPs from the two local authorities, North Yorkshire Police and the Humber and North Yorkshire ICB, along with the DSPs within their organisations, to provide assurance that safeguarding systems are in place and are working well. It has been proposed that the 6-monthly meetings will focus on areas such as exploitation, complex placements, child deaths, child safeguarding practice reviews and any other cross-cutting themes.

Safeguarding Partners Strategic Group

In order to support the delivery of the joint functions, the DSPs meet as a Strategic Group a minimum of four times per year to undertake the functions as outlined in Working Together 2023. Additional meetings are diarised to deal with emerging issues and/or concerns or at the request of an LSP or DSP. These meetings are coordinated by the NYSCP Business Manager.

Escalation of issues to LSPs

In order to ensure the LSPs have oversight of significant concerns that impact on the efficiency and effectiveness of the partnership arrangement the DSPs/Executive Chair and/or the Scrutineer can escalate concerns to all or relevant LSPs.

However, such action is only ever anticipated to be enacted in exceptional circumstances and only undertaken after matters have been fully discussed with all or relevant DSPs and a resolution not reached. It is anticipated that DSPs would wish an opportunity to brief their respective LSPs on any relevant issues, and any such escalation would only be undertaken with the full knowledge of all relevant DSPs.

At all stages of escalation, the LSPs and their DSPs will consider making use of key stakeholders in North Yorkshire who may assist on developing a resolution (this can include involving the Scrutineer, Police and Crime Commissioners, Mayors, Lead Members or other independent persons). If the matter remains unresolved between the three safeguarding partners and their local networks the next stage of escalation to be considered is the Secretary of State.

Independent Scrutiny

In line with Working Together 2023[1] the decision on how best to implement a robust system of independent scrutiny has been made locally with the aim that the system in place leads to objective and rigorous analysis of local arrangements.

In North Yorkshire, a decision has been made to appoint a Scrutineer to provide safeguarding partners and relevant agencies with rigorous, effective support and challenge at both strategic and operational level. The role supports the partnership drive for continuous improvement and assurance that arrangements work effectively for children, families and practitioners and adds value to the work of the partnership. This role contributes to a wider system of assurance and accountability including:

- Assurance and accountability action undertaken at the request of the three statutory partners
- Wider partnership activity (such as quality assurance, performance management and learning frameworks)
- Independent inspectorate inspections

The Scrutiny role is in line and compliant with Working Together 2023 in that the Executive Chair functions and scrutiny activity are separate. The Scrutineer acts as a “critical friend” to the partnership and provides opportunities to ensure the voice of children and families are considered and encourages reflection relating to frontline practice.

The partnership Business Plan includes an outline of planned scrutiny activity during the business plan cycle. Additional scrutiny activity can be undertaken at the request of the DSPs. The Scrutineer attends the DSP Strategic Group when required and is involved in key partnership activity (such as partnership development Sessions).

Relevant Agencies

Relevant agencies are those organisations and agencies whose involvement the safeguarding partners consider are required to safeguard and promote the welfare of local children. Examples of relevant agencies include;

- Education and Early Years
- Criminal justice,
- Voluntary Sector
- Local government
- Public services

[1] Working together to safeguard children 2023: statutory guidance

Introduction

The North Yorkshire Safeguarding Children Partnership, (NYSCP) is proud to present its Annual Report for 2024–2025. This report outlines the progress made over the past year to safeguard and promote the welfare of children across North Yorkshire. It reflects the collective efforts of our statutory partners, relevant agencies, and the wider safeguarding community to respond to emerging challenges, embed learning, and continuously improve practice.

This year has seen the implementation of significant national reforms, most notably the updated statutory guidance, Working Together to Safeguard Children (2023). The NYSCP has worked proactively to ensure these changes are understood and embedded across the partnership. A dedicated task and finish group, a new online resource hub, and a well-attended multi-agency learning event have supported the workforce to adapt to the revised expectations. These efforts have strengthened our shared understanding of safeguarding responsibilities and reinforced our commitment to child-centred, multi-agency working.

In line with the updated guidance, the NYSCP reviewed and refreshed its Multi-Agency Safeguarding Arrangements, (MASA), which were formally approved by the Executive in late 2024. The revised MASA document sets out how the three statutory safeguarding partners, North Yorkshire Council, North Yorkshire Police, and the Humber, and North Yorkshire Integrated Care Board work together with relevant agencies to safeguard children. These arrangements reflect a renewed emphasis on transparency, accountability, and inclusive partnership working.

A key highlight of the year was the successful Joint Targeted Area Inspection, (JTAI) of the multi-agency response to unborn children and those aged 0–7 who are victims of domestic abuse. Inspectors praised the strength of partnership relationships, recognised the impact of collaborative working across agencies, and the commitment of frontline practitioners to safeguarding children. The findings from the JTAI have informed ongoing development work and have been integrated into the NYSCP's learning and improvement framework. The full report is accessible via JTAI Report and the NYSCP Executive would like to take this opportunity to thank all practitioners across the partnership who formally took part in the inspection and those who continue to work tirelessly to keep children safe and help them thrive.

Another important development was the formal adoption of the Education Subgroup as a core part of the NYSCP governance structure. This is a significant and welcome step forward, recognising the vital role that education settings play in teaching and safeguarding our children. The subgroup ensures that the voice of education is embedded in strategic planning and operational delivery, and that all schools across North Yorkshire are supported to engage in ongoing discussions that shape practice and improve outcomes for children.

The launch of the NYSCP Practitioner Forum has also been a major milestone. This cross-agency group provides a platform for frontline practitioners to share their experiences, identify emerging issues, and influence the development of strategies and resources. The forum ensures that the voices of those working directly with children and families are heard and valued. It is vital that we continue to build representation from all partners in this space, as it enables us to focus on what practitioners think, feel, and need to keep children safe and help them thrive.

In 2024, the NYSCP revised the Being Young in North Yorkshire, (BYINNY) Strategy 2024–2028, following extensive consultation with children and professionals across the county.

This strategy sets out a bold and inclusive vision for all children in North Yorkshire, focusing on the key priorities of ensuring children are Happy, Healthy, Safe, and Achieving.

This report captures the breadth and depth of the partnership’s work over the past year. It celebrates the dedication of professionals across all sectors and sets out our priorities for the year ahead.

Together, we remain committed to our mission to ensure that every child in North Yorkshire is safe, supported, and able to thrive.

Spotlight on Impactful Programs

We have chosen to present a snapshot of programmes to illustrate the breadth and depth of work taking place across North Yorkshire. Each example has been selected to highlight the impact these initiatives are having on children, showcasing how collaborative efforts between agencies and professionals are driving meaningful change in wellbeing and safeguarding.

Turnaround Project

Turnaround is part of the government's investment in the youth justice system to intervene early, aiming to prevent up to 17,000 children nationally from entering the justice system.

Funded by the Ministry of Justice with focus Prevention & Diversion and early intervention for children with children on the cusp of the justice system. In North Yorkshire, early intervention initiatives with children consist of consent-based engagement which recognises children on the cusp of offending often have complex needs. The project is aligned to Change Direction, delivered by North Yorkshire Youth and commissioned by North Yorkshire Police, Fire & Crime Commissioner (PFCC) – delivered by North Yorkshire Youth (now the Deputy Mayor's Office.)

The aims of the project are to divert children who may be committing antisocial behaviour or very low-level offences, away from the criminal justice system by means of support and diversionary activities and to improve circumstances for both children and local community.

Dedicated key workers take a trauma-informed approach to support young people to address the underlying causes of behaviour that could lead to criminalisation. The desired outcomes are to evidence lower levels of criminal activity and with more children engaged in positive activities. Families also receive support to develop their understanding regarding diverting their children away from criminal behaviours; thus improving outcomes for children and their families

Children must fit one or more of the following criteria are eligible for the scheme:

- Aged 10-17 at the point of referral
- Subject to a No Further Action (NFA) decision (including Outcome 22)
- Subject to a Community Resolution (Outcome 8)
- Receiving a first-time youth caution
- Released under investigation (RUI) or subject to pre-charge bail (PCB)
- Discharged by a court
- Acquitted at court
- Fined by a court
- Come to the notice of agencies with repeated ASB – including CPN, ABC contracts or civil orders

Must:

- In the six months, not been supported by: Early Help, Child and Family Services or Youth Justice Service

continued...

Turnaround Project Impact

The project has been extremely positive, with the majority of children engaged in the support not engaging in any further criminal activities. This work also aligns with other approaches in North Yorkshire that support parents with what is the most challenging (and rewarding) job of parenting.

Parenting Through Adversity Practice Guide

The NYSCP has promoted various national documents in order to support practitioners working with children and their families. For example, the What Works for Children Parenting Through Adversity Practice Guide \(0-10\) is the second in a series of evidence-based guidance for the sector, commissioned by the Department for Education, on how to achieve the outcomes in the Children's Social Care National Framework.

The Parenting Through Adversity Practice Guide (0-10) marks a significant breakthrough in our understanding of the effectiveness of parenting support for families facing adversity. For the first time, we have robust evidence that parenting support can help to reduce serious harm to vulnerable children, improve children's behaviour, and reduce parental stress. The Practice Guide provides practitioners and local leaders with practical advice and actionable recommendations, sharing evidence-based insights on how to effectively support children and families.

You can find the summary Practice Guide here on our website, and read our press release here. For more details, read the full Practice Guide.

Solihull

The Solihull Parenting Programme and its integration with Your Family Toolkit in North Yorkshire, is a universal, evidence-based online offer available to all families across North Yorkshire. It aims to support emotional health and wellbeing, strengthen parent-child relationships, and improve parenting confidence.

The support is free Access and provides courses accessible in multiple languages with a range of courses from pregnancy through to adolescence (0–19 years).

To complement the Solihull offer, North Yorkshire Council developed Your Family Toolkit which is a bespoke and flexible resource for professionals working with children and families. Developed in collaboration with Early Help, CAMHS, Adult Learning & Skills, Education, and Health colleagues, the toolkit is designed to enhance parenting strategies through tailored support and offering a modular, “pick n’ mix” approach to meet individual family needs.

Over 1,200 North Yorkshire residents have accessed Solihull courses and the toolkit has been praised for its flexibility and relevance to real-life parenting challenges.

Practitioner forum

The NYSCP Practitioner Forum is a dynamic and inclusive platform designed to connect frontline practitioners and volunteers working with children and families across North Yorkshire. Established in response to consultation events held in summer 2024, the forum aims to amplify practitioner voices, foster multi-agency collaboration, and inform the strategic direction of the North Yorkshire Safeguarding Children Partnership. Meetings are held every six to eight weeks via Teams, with occasional in-person sessions, and are facilitated by the NYSCP Business Unit. The forum is intentionally informal and practitioner-led, allowing attendees to shape agendas, share insights, and raise concerns directly with the partnership. Topics explored have included safeguarding training quality, barriers to learning, dissemination of information within teams, and the development of resources.

Feedback from participants consistently highlights the value of the forum in promoting networking, information sharing, and a sense of collective purpose. Practitioners have described it as a space where their views are heard and considered in decision-making, helping to bridge the gap between strategic planning and frontline realities. The forum continues to evolve, with plans for increased practitioner representation at development days and further exploration of effective communication strategies across services.

The group is open to all frontline practitioners and volunteers working with children and families, and there is no commitment to attend every session – just join those you can.

For more information and to access the Teams Link to join, please email nyscp@northyorks.gov.uk

“For my area of work – finding out gaps in knowledge so we can help understand/education around topics to help safeguarding finding out new and important points of contact.”

“It’s about keeping up to date with information and networking and knowing we are not alone”.

“Information sharing, working with others to share practice, understand how we can support each other and vice versa”.

“Build good working relationships. Develop Services together with shared knowledge and experiences.”

“The ability to have our views considered within decision making... having our voices in the background of decision makers can only help”.

How we Work Together

Humans have very long childhoods compared to other mammals because we have such a big and complex brain to build. Children depend on adults to nurture them, and emotional nurture is as important in developing the brain as good food is for the body. The brain grows when connections are made between the cells in response to what is happening to us, so, what happens to us shapes our brains.

Brain connections help us to process and make sense of our experiences and research shows us that the brain is a social organ, every human relationship shapes the brain and loving relationships “feed” connections. Whenever we connect with people our brains change, repeated loving and respectful connections build strong patterns in the brain so we are able to function at our best. People need People.

Professionals in North Yorkshire

We serve a diverse and dispersed population of an estimated 615,400 people, 151,000 of those are children, across a geographical area of over 8,000 square kilometres or 3,090 square miles. Our children live in towns and villages, we have one city, we have an extensive coastline and a large number of farming communities. Our relationship-based, “Strength in Relationships” practice model is embedded across our workforce and we recognise the need to provide the right support at the right time for children and families. We know that successful outcomes for children depend on strong partnership working with children, their parents and carers, practitioners and senior leaders.

In North Yorkshire, we are fortunate to collaborate with 151,000 children and young people under the age of 25 who live in our geographically diverse county. The wishes and feelings of children, along with their best interests, are central to the decision-making process of the partnership and the way professionals work together.

Successful outcomes for children depend on strong partnership working with parents, carers, practitioners and senior leaders. Strong, effective multi-agency safeguarding arrangements in place across North Yorkshire ensure an effective response to local circumstances and engage the right people at the right time in the right way.

A shared responsibility, is set out in the Children’s Social Care National Framework, and as a partnership we will adhere to the following principles:

- children’s welfare is paramount
- children’s wishes and feelings are sought, heard, and responded to
- children’s social care works in partnership with whole families
- children are raised by their families, with their family networks or in family environments wherever possible
- local authorities work with other agencies to effectively identify and meet the needs of children, young people, and families
- local authorities consider the economic and social circumstances impacting children, young people, and families

Talking to our Children

The wishes and feelings of children and what is in their best interest remain central to the decision-making of the partnership and the way in which professionals work together. These decisions are rooted in child development, are age appropriate and are sensitive to the impact of adversity and trauma.

Since its inception in 2006 the, “Growing up in North Yorkshire” survey has obtained the views, experiences and opinions of pupils in national curriculum years 2, 6, 8, 10 and 12 regarding a broad range of issues from health and education to home life and activities, including risk-taking behaviour. Over 17,000 children have participated in the 2024 survey in which children have shared their perceptions and lived experiences of life in North Yorkshire. This invaluable insight into their lives is used by an array of professionals to focus support where it is needed the most. In order to maximise the health and wellbeing of our children in North Yorkshire this data forms the basis of our key priorities and shapes our work with children and their families.

We now have over a decade’s worth of data on what really matters to the children and young people in our county and it is more important than ever that they know we are listening to them, that we believe them and that we will take their opinions, experiences and needs into account when working with them.

Talking to our Adults

Parenting and caring for children can be one of the most rewarding jobs in the world, however, it can also be incredibly challenging, particularly when there are additional stresses and strains or unforeseen circumstances. Life means we do not know what is round the corner and there will be times throughout all our lives when we need extra help, either for ourselves or for our children. The NYSCP recognise the strengths in seeing parents and carers as safeguarding partners and giving them a voice in the decisions that are made with them and their children.

Effective partnership working with parents and carers happens when practitioners build strong, trusting and cooperative relationships and empowers families to participate in service design and values their contributions and feedback. The NYSCP aims to create policies that are jargon free that reflect parents and carers’ views which impact on service design.

The Parent’s and Carer’s page on the partnership’s website has been re-designed with the invaluable help of the Experts by Experience parents and carers group who have been generous with their time in helping review this. We will continue to work in partnership with the group to ensure the website remains up to date and relevant for all our parents and carers across the county.

What do we know about our children?

The below graphic outlines some key data from Q4 2024/25 related to what life for a child in North Yorkshire looks like:

Children in North Yorkshire

Listening, Learning, and Leading with Children's Voices

At the heart of safeguarding lies a simple but powerful principle: children's voices must not only be heard, but they must also shape the way we work. In 2024–2025, the North Yorkshire Safeguarding Children Partnership continued its commitment to ensuring that the lived experiences, perspectives, and aspirations of children remain central to everything we do.

Over the year, we have strengthened our approach to listening by embedding children's voices across our strategies, audits, and frontline practice, and created more spaces for dialogue between professionals, families, and the children we serve. This commitment to listening and acting on children's voices is not a one-off exercise; it is embedded in our culture. It ensures that safeguarding in North Yorkshire is not something done to children, but something done alongside them, empowering them to have a voice in their plans and the way we work with them.

Partnership decisions are rooted in child development, are age-appropriate, and are sensitive to the impact of adversity and trauma. Fundamentally, our vision is designed for and shaped by children.

We are especially proud of our work to engage underrepresented groups. Through the North Yorkshire Youth Voice Executive and its affiliated groups, including the Young People's Council, Flying High (SEND), Young Carers, LGBT Youth Forum, and Military Kids Club Heroes, we have amplified the voices of children who may otherwise go unheard. The 2024 "Growing Up in North Yorkshire" survey, which captured the views of over 17,000 children, has provided a rich insight into their experiences and priorities, helping us tailor our responses to what matters most to them.

"Children have the right to express their views freely in all matters affecting them, and those views should be given due weight in accordance with the child's age and maturity."

United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child, Article 12

Living in North Yorkshire

North Yorkshire is England's largest county, characterised by its vast rural landscapes, coastal communities, and a strong sense of local identity. It encompasses vibrant urban centres, historic market towns, remote rural villages, and distinctive coastal communities. While this geography brings natural beauty and close-knit communities, it also presents unique challenges, particularly for those living in very rural and coastal areas, where access to services, transport, and employment can be limited. Seasonal employment remains a defining feature of many coastal communities, adding to the complexity of local economic resilience and family stability.

For children and families, these geographic and economic factors can significantly impact their daily lives and wellbeing. In remote areas, limited access to services such as healthcare, education, and recreational activities can contribute to feelings of isolation and hinder opportunities for children's development and family support. The reliance on seasonal employment for some can lead to financial instability, affecting the security and quality of life for families.

North Yorkshire's small but growing ethnic minority population adds to the county's evolving cultural identity, highlighting the need for inclusive and tailored safeguarding approaches. Ensuring that services are accessible and responsive to the diverse needs of children and families is crucial in promoting their safety, happiness, and overall wellbeing.

By addressing these challenges through community engagement and collaborative efforts, North Yorkshire can create a supportive environment where all children and families have the opportunity to thrive.

The York & North Yorkshire Combined Authority Youth Commission

The North Yorkshire Youth Commission (NYYC) enables children to support, challenge, and inform the work of the Mayor of York and North Yorkshire. They are a diverse group who broadly reflect the make-up of the local population, including those who may have direct experience of the police and the criminal justice system.

A key part of NYYC's role is to gather the views of other young people across the county through peer-to-peer research in the form of a 'Big Conversation.'

This peer-led research process provides a safe environment for young people to talk to their peers about relevant issues.

At the inaugural NYYC meeting, members reviewed their priority aims to ensure they remained up-to-date and relevant to young people. The aims helped to guide the project, providing a focus for the Big Conversation.

The key priorities were:

1. Mental Health and Emotional Well-being
2. Gender Violence & Safer Streets
3. Discrimination
4. Online Safety
5. Relationships with Police & Authorities
6. Drugs, Gangs & County Lines

Annually, the Young Commission produce priority aims which are shared with safeguarding partners and taken into consideration during strategic and procedural development.

In November 2024, the Youth Commission worked with the NYSCP on some consultation work for the Being Young in North Yorkshire Strategy, looking at what the four strategic priorities meant to them. Their insight was invaluable in shaping the partnership's areas of focus.

The NYSCP Sub Groups

Structure of the NYSCP

The NYSCP operates under a subgroup structure with the Executive providing strategic direction for the partnership in line with national, regional and local objectives and priorities. The arrangements outlined below identify the safeguarding partnership structure, which seeks to ensure partners work together and respond to the needs of children in the area.

Executive

In addition to the DSP Strategic Group referenced in this report, the DSPs meet with wider strategic leads at the Executive meeting on an eight-weekly basis. The Chairing of this meeting is undertaken by the Executive Chair in order to facilitate strong and effective communication and engagement from the three DSPs within the meeting.

The DSPs jointly develop and implement the partnership's business plan, identify and agree partnership strategic priorities and utilise the independent scrutiny role to support develop and strengthen the partnership arrangements.

The DSPs identify specific areas for scrutiny and assurance activity relating to either strategic or operational partnership working to provide insight into current practice and potential areas for improvement. This reporting provides assurance evidence and focus for identifying the future strategic objectives that lead to operational improvements.

Strategic Partnership Development Days

Every six months, the NYSCP hold a strategic partnership development day where senior leaders from statutory and relevant agencies come together to consider the effectiveness of the local safeguarding arrangements and to evaluate and improve services for children across North Yorkshire. These sessions ensure local multi-agency safeguarding arrangements are fully understood and rigorously applied within both statutory and relevant agency organisations.

Safeguarding Practice Review Group (SPRG)

North Yorkshire Children's Services are duty-bound to notify the National Child Safeguarding Practice Review Panel and by extension the Department for Education and Ofsted, if it knows or suspects a child has died or been seriously harmed and abuse or neglect is known or suspected.

The SPRG is a multi-agency group of strategic leads from statutory and non-statutory agencies, including education, chaired by the Designated Doctor for Safeguarding and Children in Care and meets responsively when a referral to the National Panel is made. The SPRG meet four times per year to ensure there is progress against the recommendations and learning gathered from both national and local reviews.

Action plans are created from recommendations gained in reviewing serious incidents and these recommendations are shared with the Executive via an assurance report. Action plans are managed through the Practice and Learning Subgroup with learning points shared with practitioners via Practitioner Learning Events. Anonymised briefing papers in the form of 7 Point Briefings are published on our "Learning for Professionals" webpage.

The Practice and Learning Sub Group (PLS)

In September 2023, following a period of consultation with partners, the North Yorkshire Safeguarding Children Partnership (NYSCP) undertook a strategic restructure of its sub-groups. This led to the formation of the Practice and Learning Subgroup (PLS), which merged the previous Learning Improvement and Practice and development sub-groups to create a more streamlined and effective structure. The PLS serves as the “engine room” of the partnership, bringing together representatives from police, health, the local authority, education, and the voluntary sector on a six-weekly basis. Its purpose is to drive forward the partnership’s priorities through the Being Young in North Yorkshire Strategy and to embed learning from reviews across the workforce. Since its inaugural meeting in April 2024, the PLS has become instrumental in promoting learning, improvement, and strategic development. It has overseen a wide range of activities, including audits, strategy development, toolkit launches, and the implementation of national guidance, and was praised in the recent JTAI report as “dynamic” The subgroup maintains a robust action log and forward plan to track actions, partnership priorities, and ensure ongoing progress and accountability.

Achievements 2024 - 2025

- PLS played a key role in supporting the implementation of the updated “Working Together to Safeguard Children 2023” guidance. An operational working group was established to manage this transition, with PLS facilitating updates, action tracking, and dissemination of changes across the partnership.
- Continued to embed the #AskMe...Have the Conversation campaign, supporting professionals to engage with new and expectant parents.
- Launched the Harmful Sexual Behaviour Strategy and the Being Young in North Yorkshire Strategies 2025–2028.
- Supported the JTAI audit and thematic audits on harmful sexual behaviour, children missing from home, as well as SPRG reviews.
- Oversaw the development and update of practice guidance and policy updates across the partnership.
- Maintained strong multi-agency collaboration on key initiatives and events.

Multi-Agency Audit Group

When partner agencies and individual professionals engage in case auditing, it helps:

- Identify good practice.
- Understand the effectiveness of front-line practice in protecting children and young people.
- Be clear on the impact of locally delivered training
- Ask questions about whether things could be done differently to improve the safeguarding system

The partnership undertakes three learning themed audits per year with audit subjects identified from multi-agency data sets. Audit reports are developed with the aim of developing “SMART” recommendations which are progressed through action plans managed by the Practice and Learning sub-group. Multi-agency learning from each audit is shared across the partnership via various networks, learning events, training sessions and written briefings.

Partnership Audits

Alongside multi-agency audits the partnership also undertake biennial Section 11, 157 and S175 audits where safeguarding partners and education settings are required to provide assurance to the Executive regarding their safeguarding arrangements.

These audits result in an understanding of best practice which is shared across the workforce and allow for the development of practice through the delivery of targeted training sessions.

Child Death Overview Panel

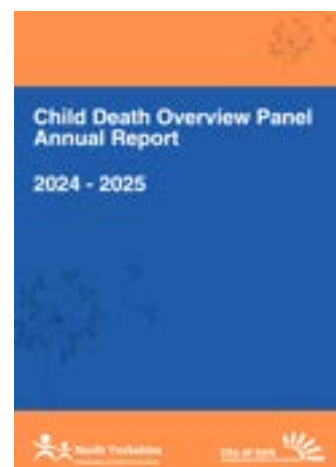

The reviewing of child deaths is a statutory obligation as set out in the Children Act 2004, as amended by the Children and Social Work Act 2017 which states that child death review partners must make arrangements to review all deaths of children normally resident in the local area.

The NYSCP recognise the life changing impact the death of any child will have on their family, friends and local community. The panel review each child's death with dignity and respect with the mantra that the review, from a professional perspective, is the last good thing that can be done for any child who has sadly died.

North Yorkshire and City of York work together to review children across their areas and the purpose of the review process is to identify any matters relating to the death of a child that are relevant to the welfare of other children in the family, in their local area, or to public health and safety.

The Child Death Review Partners publish an annual report on:

- Local patterns and trends.
- Lessons learnt and actions taken.
- The effectiveness of the wider child death review process.

Deaths of Care Leavers

Working Together 2023 states, “the local authority should notify the Secretary of State for Education and Ofsted of the death of a care leaver up to and including the age of 24. This should be notified via the Child Safeguarding Online Notification System.

Should any of our young care leavers sadly die, the NYSCP and City of York partnerships have agreed on a shared process to support the identification and management of the deaths of these young people.

Information on the Child Death and Care Leaver review procedures is available from the NYSCP website where The Child Death Review Annual Reports can also be access.

Care leavers are entitled to support from their Personal Adviser up to their 25th birthday. Local authorities are required to keep in touch with all care leavers up the point they reach age 21, and to make their best efforts to contact all care leavers aged 21 to 24 annually to remind them that they remain eligible for support. If a young person chooses not to take up support between 21 to 24 years of age the local authority may no longer be aware of a care leaver’s whereabouts or circumstances (and therefore their death).

MACE and Contextual Safeguarding

The MACE and Contextual Safeguarding Strategic subgroup provides strategic oversight, scrutiny and challenge of the NYSCP MACE arrangements. This is achieved through the analysis of performance management data to ensure efficiency and effectiveness of operational activity.

The meeting takes place quarterly and is chaired by the Head of Safeguarding Partnerships, North Yorkshire Council.

MACE Level One: The Multi-Agency Child Exploitation (MACE) and Contextual Safeguarding (CS) Level One process relates to the identification, risk assessment and risk management of those children vulnerable to all forms of exploitation.

This case discussion takes place across partners in the Multi Agency Screening Team alongside the allocated worker and any other local professionals required. It allows partners to offer challenge regarding the risk level and risk management plans for the young person. The meeting will result in an agreement as to the risk level which can be one of four outcomes: High risk, medium risk, low risk or no risk. Plans will be put in place and reviewed agreed based on the risk level.

Level Two: The Multi-Agency Child Exploitation (MACE) Level Two meeting draws on information from our Multi Agency Child Exploitation (MACE) and Contextual Safeguarding Strategy. The strategy aims to build on existing structures in place across North Yorkshire to bring together expertise, knowledge, and skills to deliver services in a co-ordinated way across the following strands of exploitation:

- Child Sexual Exploitation (CSE),
- Child Criminal Exploitation (CCE) (including county lines, financial exploitation and organised crime groups)
- Children Missing from Home (MFH),
- Harmful Sexual Behaviour (HSB),
- Modern Day Slavery and Human Trafficking (MSHT),
- Online Child Exploitation,
- Peer on peer exploitation/teenage relationship abuse
- Radicalisation and extremism

The group will include a focus on children and young people aged up to 18 years, however, will incorporate the transition of children and young people over 18 into adult services up until age 25 years.

The meetings are held monthly, virtually in Scarborough, Ryedale, Craven, Richmondshire, Hambleton, Harrogate and Selby to discuss local issues and concerns regarding child exploitation and contextual safeguarding concerns in the locality.

The purpose of the Level Two meeting is to facilitate the sharing of information and identify action regarding:

- The places and spaces where children and young people may be at risk of exploitation,
- Locations that could pose a risk of exploitation to children and young people,
- The review of community intelligence and emerging themes, trends, and links in local areas,
- The identification of potential perpetrators and the coordination of partner intervention and disruption.

A short introductory video to the child exploitation and MACE processes is now available on the NYSCP YouTube channel: Introduction to Child Exploitation in North Yorkshire

Working With the Education Subgroup

In North Yorkshire we recognise the complexities of engaging with nearly 400 schools (including alternative education and further education providers), as well as over 600 childcare providers. Currently there is no statutorily designated role to represent “education” in partnership arrangements, however, the NYSCP recognise education staff play a pivotal role in the daily lives of children. Schools offer a universal service and are therefore well places to spot early indicators of safeguarding concerns alongside supporting their emotional health and wellbeing, helping them achieve their potential.

Meeting on a termly basis, the Education Subgroup group was established in 2023 and brings together representatives from the education and childcare sector. Members of the group represent “education” in its broadest sense, rather than acting solely as a voice for their own setting.

The aim of the group is to ensure the education sector is included in the development of strategies, practice guidance and other areas of partnership work. Chaired by the Head of Alternative Provision, this group began as a focus group ahead of the arrangements being strengthened, so that it now forms part of the formal Multi-Agency Safeguarding Arrangements Subgroup Structure, further cementing the way in which the education sector is represented across the Partnership

Working with the Voluntary, Community and Social Enterprise Sector (VCSE)

Voluntary, charity, social enterprise (VCSE) and private sector organisations (including sports clubs and organisations) and agencies play an important role in safeguarding children through the services they deliver. The staff, students and volunteers in these settings play an important role in building relationships, identifying concerns and providing direct support for children, families and communities. In North Yorkshire there are over 7,000 VCSE groups supported by over 67,000 volunteers and 15,000 paid staff.

A VCSE group was established to further develop the partnership links across the VCSE sector and explore the changes to Working Together and the implications for the voluntary sector and their role in the multi-agency safeguarding arrangements. Work of the group has led to the development of communication strategies with the voluntary sector (with a focus on information being shared into the partnership from the VCSE and information being shared to the VCSE sector from the partnership) via the development of a Key Safeguarding messages campaign. VCSE partners are represented across the partnership subgroup structure and are seen as a vital partner in the multi-agency safeguarding arrangements in North Yorkshire.

In North Yorkshire, a joint children and adults safeguarding self-assessment checklist has been produced to support colleagues in the VCSE sector to identify the safeguarding arrangements that need to be in place in their organisation and the need to work with safeguarding partners, which is then used to provide assurance back into the partnership.

‘The VCSE is proud to be part of the MASA and feel equal in how our voice is heard.’

Being Young in North Yorkshire Strategy 2025 - 2028

“We feel like the Being Young in North Yorkshire strategy is designed to be clear and easy to understand, helping organisations know where they fit within the system.”

Practitioner feedback

Being Young in North Yorkshire (BYNY) Strategy 2025–2028 is the NYSCP’s strategy for all children living in North Yorkshire. We would like practitioners across the partnership to consider the strategic priorities in this document as the strong “roots” or foundations of all the work that takes place with children in North Yorkshire. These roots are fertilised by the way we work in partnership with each other.

In the summer of 2024, over 100 colleagues from across the partnership gave their time to participate in consultation events for the development of the Being Young in North Yorkshire strategy. With wide representation from across the partnership, including the Children and Families Service, North Yorkshire Police, Harrogate District Foundation Trust, Primary Care, Tees, Esk and Wear Valley NHS Foundation Trust and colleagues from the Education and Voluntary sectors. The sessions were an opportunity to better understand how the current strategies feed into daily practice, and partners were also able to share their own experiences and ideas for how they would like the strategies to influence future practice.

The four strategic priorities remain the same, we want children to be Happy, Healthy, Safe, and Achieving, however, these priorities should each be considered on a continuum, with an understanding that we will all experience adversity and will at times need help, either for ourselves or for our children.

We have agreed that under these four priorities, there are eight key areas of focus which are:

Happy

- Children’s Mental Health and Emotional Wellbeing
- Right Support at the Right Time: Our Early Help System

Healthy

- Children Start Well and Live Well
- Reduce Health Inequalities

Safe

- Child Exploitation and Contextual Safeguarding
- Protect Children at Risk of Harm

Achieving

- Transitions
- Education and Inclusion

The full strategy can be read here.

Our consultation work to develop the strategy included speaking to young people, parents and carers and our practitioners, with over 1000 colleagues from across the partnership giving their time to participate in consultation events held in the summer of 2024.

Consultation Participant 2024

A Tree of Shared Purpose

The strategy is built around a powerful metaphor: the tree.

The roots represent the strong foundations of our work, shared values, trauma-informed practice, and statutory responsibilities under Working Together to Safeguard Children. These roots are nourished by partnership, inclusive practice, and a commitment to equity.

The trunk symbolises the strategy’s role as a central pillar from which other key plans grow, such as the Early Help Strategy, Harmful Sexual Behaviour Strategy, and Multi-Agency Child Exploitation Strategy, ensuring alignment across the safeguarding system.

From these roots grow the branches, eight priority areas that guide our collective efforts. These include mental health, early help, inclusion, transitions to adulthood, and more. Each branch represents a key area where we aim to make measurable improvements in children’s lives.

We would like practitioners across the partnership to consider the strategic priorities in this document as the strong ‘roots’ or foundations of all the work that takes place with children in North Yorkshire.

A Whole-System Commitment

The strategy outlines how all children’s workforce partners will work together to support parents and carers in creating a supportive environment where young people can thrive.

It is renewed every four years to ensure that our goals and priorities remain clear, transparent, and, importantly, measurable. It sets out the key priorities for practitioners and how we will work together to achieve them.

The strategy provides:

- A clear focus and shared vision for all stakeholders
- Guidance on the actions needed to achieve our goals
- Clarity on roles and responsibilities across the workforce
- A framework for coordinated, measurable, and continuously improving practice
- A commitment to ensuring statutory guidance is considered and followed

This strategic clarity ensures that safeguarding in North Yorkshire is not only collaborative and inclusive but also effective, accountable, and driven by the voices of children and young people.

Our Plan on a Page

Being Young in North Yorkshire Strategy 2025-2028

Our Areas of Focus:

Children's Mental Health and Emotional Wellbeing
Right Support at the Right Time:
Our Early Help System

Children Start well and Live Well
Reduce Health Inequalities

Child Exploitation and Contextual Safeguarding Protect Children at Risk of Harm

Education and inclusion
Transitions

Happy, Healthy, Safe, Achieving

Our Signs of Success:

Children will say they understand their feelings and know what support is available when they need it

Children will have the best start in life, living healthier lives for longer than the previous generation

Children will report they are safe in their families and in their communities

Children will know they can achieve their goals and are supported to dream big

Our Foundations:

Our Strengths in Relationships practice model, NYSCP, underpins all our interactions with children and their families. Families know what support is available and how they can access this support when it's needed.

Our Principles:

- We listen to and believe what our children tell us and use their views to shape our work
- We see parents and carers as safeguarding stakeholders
- We work inclusively with our communities
- We promote positive and respectful relationships
- We provide responsive support when and where it's needed
- We are strengths-based and always seek to work in partnership

Our Measurables

How will we know we have achieved our goals?

Progress tracked through our Growing up in North Yorkshire Survey. Learning through our NYSCP Quality Assurance and Training. Monitoring and oversight of our multi-agency data Delivery of our key strategies such as: Early Help, Autism and Social Emotional Mental Health Strategy

Continued promotion and evaluation of our #AskMe, Sudden and Unexplained Death in Infancy, Infant Crying, (ICON,) and other campaign work Develop a multi-agency Children's Mental Health Policy Work with our Public Health colleagues to ensure a consistent strategic approach to addressing health inequalities

Healthy

Delivery of our NYSCP strategies including MACE and Contextual Safeguarding, Harmful Sexual Behaviour and Early Help strategy Learning through our NYSCP Quality Assurance and Training Monitoring our NYSCP data Continued focus on key areas such as Online Safety, Neglect, Sexual Abuse and Children who are victims of Domestic Abuse

Safe

Continue to develop strong partnerships and enable more effective collaboration with education and inclusion providers Ensure all children across North Yorkshire are supported to access quality education opportunities that meets their needs and help them to achieve their ambitions. Enable young people have access to the right support so that they can transition into adulthood and live well within our communities

Achieving

How will we know we have made a difference?

The most important way that we will understand what difference our work is making is by talking to children and their adults, by genuinely listening to them and by including their views in the design of systems that seek to support them. Along side this we will:

- continue to strengthen our multi-agency collaboration across the partnership
- continue to work collaboratively with other boards and partnerships
- evidence effective information sharing
- maintain transparent governance and accountability processes
- provide evidence of effective safeguarding practice through multi-agency quality assurance processes
- support practitioners in their work through effective safeguarding policies, procedures and training
- evidence the impact of the work we do, demonstrating positive outcomes for children and their families
- continue to creatively engage with children and their families, genuinely using their feedback to shape our approaches

Our Priorities 2024 - 2025

As stated in last year's annual report, the partnership priorities for 2024 - 2025 were:

- Criminal and Sexual Exploitation, including gender-based violence and discrimination
- Strengthening the Role of Education in the Partnership
- Children's Emotional and Mental Health
- Online Safety, including responses to technology-assisted harm

All of the priorities are reflected in the Being Young in North Yorkshire strategy's priorities for children to be Happy, Healthy, Safe and Achieving and we are proud of how hard everyone across the partnership has worked in order to improve outcomes for our children and their families.

The next chapter of this report will explain what work has been undertaken across the partnership in order to achieve our priorities, not only describing the work that has been undertaken but also providing evidence of how the work improves the lives of children in North Yorkshire.

Priority 1: Criminal and Sexual Exploitation

In March 2024 the partnership saw the launch of the new Multi-Agency Child Exploitation \(MACE\) and Contextual Safeguarding strategy 2024/27. This strategy builds upon the work of the previous strategy and outlines the continued commitment to a coordinated partnership approach to tackle all forms of child exploitation in North Yorkshire and ensure that the right resources are well trained, skilled and in place to drive the activity outlined within this strategy.

It focusses on:

- Child Sexual exploitation (CSE)
- Child Criminal Exploitation (CCE) including County Lines, financial exploitation and organised crime groups)
- Children missing from home (MFH)
- Harmful sexual behaviour
- Modern day slavery and human trafficking (MSHT)
- Online Child exploitation
- Peer on peer exploitation/teenage relationship abuse
- Radicalisation and extremism

The MACE and Contextual Safeguarding Strategy has identified four key priorities across the partnership. These four priorities will be underpinned by a detailed action plan that holds partners to account for their plans to fulfil the actions set out across our priority areas.

Prepare	Prevent	Protect	Pursue
Prepare the partnership and wider community in understanding scope and complexity of child exploitation and risk outside the home.	Commit to a whole partnership and wider community approach to prevention, contextual safeguarding and keeping children safe from exploitation.	To protect and support children at risk of or experiencing exploitation that does not label or blame them for the abuse they are experiencing.	Actively pursue, disrupt and respond to perpetrators of exploitation, and work collectively as a partnership to disrupt the exploitation of children in the contextual spaces they are spending their time.

Through our Multi Agency Child Exploitation (MACE) procedures, the partnership continues to make significant strides in tackling all forms of child exploitation.

Through the MACE Strategy, partners are aware of the robust framework of Prepare, Prevent, Protect and Pursue to disrupt child exploitation.

Alongside this, the NYSCP also supported the implementation of the Serious Violence in Yorkshire and York Response Strategy (2024- 2029) and is represented on the Serious Violence Duty working group.

Priorities of the strategy include:

The Women's Whole System Approach, which has been developed to ensure that more women and girls are offered appropriate gender-specific support. This includes women and girls in rural and isolated areas of the county and seldom-heard women.

For example, between January 2024 & March 2025, "She Was Just Walking Home" was delivered in schools in North Yorkshire and York (reaching approximately 1290 secondary and college students across North Yorkshire).

Outcomes showed an increase in knowledge of Violence against Women & Girls (VAWG), and an increase in reporting.

Teachers have reported a notable impact on "how it has equipped male students with more awareness of their own behaviours and action."

Child exploitation and gender-based violence remain priority areas for all our partners. There is wide partnership representation at multi-agency meetings and a high subscription rate to the partnership's 'MACE bulletin,' which shares emerging themes, areas of good practice, and resources and training.

Training to raise awareness and understanding of child exploitation continues to be developed, by individual agencies, for example, Harrogate District Foundation Trust, delivering "Out of the Shadows" exploitation training across teams, and across multi-agency platforms, with the NYSCP adding videos to raise awareness of different forms of exploitation, including an Introduction to Child Exploitation recording.

Libby Girls, delivered by St Giles Trust, was delivered between January 2024 and March 2025 in the Scarborough area. This grassroots community engagement with young women and girls in Scarborough's highest crime area enabled partners to co-produce support plans and create solutions to the challenges the local community face.

How this helps our children?

The BeAware website continues to be a well-established resource for partners to access information and resources across all factors of child exploitation. Pages have been viewed over 11,500 times and the site continues to promote resources to support safeguarding practice,

In 2024 (prior to the 'official' JTAI inspection), partners carried out a mock JTAI audit focusing on the theme at the time, which was serious youth violence. The audit found areas of strength in partnership working, multi-agency safeguarding arrangements and information sharing.

Increase in Partnership Information Sharing: North Yorkshire Police have recently shared within their Drugs Market problem profile that they have seen an increase in the intelligence shared around vulnerability and exploitation. Significant work was undertaken at the end of last year to develop and promote our intelligence sharing guide, NYSCP. It is now one of the most viewed documents on the NYSCP website, with over 4500 views this year. This means information about potential risks to children is being shared with police in a timely way which helps partners keep children safe.

MACE data set: The ongoing use of the cross-partnership data set which is presented to strategic and operational groups quarterly, with key headlines also shared with MACE partners via the secure bulletin. This is used to further develop understanding of what exploitation looks like in North Yorkshire, horizon scan for emerging themes and trends and coordinate multi agency action planning to tackle key areas of vulnerability.

Child Exploitation Awareness Day: On 18th March 2025, partners received a communications pack to raise awareness of National Child Exploitation Awareness Day. MACE partners were also asked to share training and events that they were holding during the day, and links were shared to the training and resources that were collated on the NYSCP webpage NYSCP and YouTube channel for CEADay25 and the partnership's online programme of learning. A series of social media posts were shared with partners as part of the pack; these were shared across the NYSCP social media platforms over the week. These posts had approximately 1400 views on Facebook and there is evidence contained in the graph below that webpages on the NYSCP website had increased numbers of views as a result of the promotion of this campaign.

Face to Face sessions: Following the success of the MACE development day sessions in June 2023, a series of face-to-face sessions were delivered in June 2024. The three sessions were an opportunity to meet away from the virtual platform, develop professional relationships and give partners a chance to reflect on local themes and trends. Based on feedback from the sessions in 2023, the focus of the learning in the session was online exploitation. Phoebe Bond from the Children's Society delivered a workshop on the digital lives of young people and the risks of exploitation online. 69 partners attended across the three events.

Spotlight:

The Children's Society #LookCloser Campaign

Despite some progress being made, we continue to encounter victim blaming language in our work to support children.. Language is constantly evolving and it's important we listen to victims and survivors to help us all better understand how to respond to exploitation and abuse.

We all have a role to play in challenging victim blaming language. Whether it's in case notes, conversations with other professionals or caregivers, educational material or communicating with the public on social media.

By challenging victim blaming language, you can help a young person to feel heard and their experiences understood.

#LookCloser is The Children's Society's award-winning campaign supported by the British Transport Police and the National County Lines Coordination Centre, aiming to raise awareness about the exploitation of children and young people and the vital role that everyone can play in helping stop it.

The NYSCP is proud to work closely with the Children's Society to support their work in reducing the use of victim blaming language and the adultification of children.

The NYSCP have promoted the suite of resources available from the Children's Society and will continue to challenge inappropriate language when we hear it.

#LookCloser assets, such as posters, email signatures and social media pack can be accessed here.

Operation MakeSafe:

Operation Makesafe works to prevent child sexual exploitation, specifically incidents which take place in hotels and other forms of accommodation within the hospitality industry.

The work, being overseen by the CSE Taskforce is important for several reasons:

- It highlights the issue of hotels being used as locations to abuse and exploit children.
- Raises awareness of the positive work being undertaken to prevent this.
- Supports the public in helping them better understand the purpose of hotel staff interventions to safeguard children.

Beyond 2025

Child exploitation is an ongoing issue, and partnership working continues to look at the use of data to explore both local and national trends and horizon scanning to further tackle exploitation.

Risk Outside the Home Pathway: The NYSCP are aware of national developments in the work of exploitation and as such are in the process of establishing a partnership task and finish group to seek ways to strengthen our current MACE arrangements, including the consideration of a Risk outside the Home pathway.

A MACE Summit is planned for June 2025 which will bring multi-agency partners including schools together for a day long event to hear from key speakers and give partners the opportunity to think collectively about how to improve outcomes for children who experience exploitation.

Education continues to be a central pillar in the partnership's safeguarding work, with increased engagement and representation across both strategic and operational forums. The formal establishment of the Education Subgroup has ensured that education's voice is not only heard but actively embedded in multi-agency safeguarding arrangements. This group brings together representatives from schools, academies, early years providers, and other educational settings, enabling a diverse range of perspectives to shape partnership priorities and practice.

Working with Education Sub Group

The Education Subgroup was formally adopted into the NYSCP's governance structure in 2024, recognising the vital role that education settings play in safeguarding children across North Yorkshire. Its purpose is to ensure that the voice of education is embedded in strategic planning, policy development, and operational delivery.

The subgroup brings together representatives from a diverse range of education establishments, including maintained schools, academies, independent schools, special schools, and early years providers, ensuring that perspectives from across the length and breadth of North Yorkshire are reflected in partnership discussions.

The group has contributed to the development of key strategies such as the Early Help Strategy and the Being Young in North Yorkshire Strategy, and is playing a central role in shaping the redesign of the school safeguarding audit. Topics explored have included elective home education, school attendance, trauma-informed practice, DSL training, and the alignment of education safeguarding responsibilities with the updated Working Together 2023 guidance. The subgroup has also supported the planning and delivery of the annual DSL conference and termly network briefings, which have featured sessions on AI, youth gambling, incel subculture, and safeguarding audits.

By fostering strong links between education and the wider safeguarding system, the subgroup ensures that schools are not only informed but also actively shaping the safeguarding landscape. Its inclusive and representative membership helps ensure that safeguarding approaches are relevant, practical, and responsive to the needs of children and young people in every part of North Yorkshire.

Partner agencies have continued to use the voice and lived experiences of children to drive initiatives to support social, emotional and mental health. For example, the Healthy Schools & Early Years Award Programme.

Acting on feedback from schools and early years providers, there is now a dedicated “schools and early years” page on the NYSCP website. This houses key information, guidance and resources for schools, so they know they can access information quickly. To date, the page has been viewed over 1000 times.

Practitioner Forum

School representation is also strong in our Practitioner Forum, with a wide range of education practitioners in attendance. Their feedback on training, resources, and partnership working from an education perspective has directly influenced the development of new resources and improvements to the NYSCP website and toolkits such as the Sexualised Behaviours in Children toolkit which was co-developed with practitioners.

The Designated Safeguarding Leads (DSL) Conference

Our multi-agency training provision for schools and education providers continues to flourish. The ever-popular DSL Conference was held in September 2024 which saw a partnership approach to supporting schools in North Yorkshire in their safeguarding roles.

The conference was opened by Assistant Chief Constable Catherine Clarke, and Corporate Director of Children and Young People's Services, North Yorkshire Council, Sir Stuart Carlton. Workshops were delivered by a range of partners, which focused on:

- Introductory Guide to the Incel Subculture: Learn about this ideology, its beliefs, and links to terrorism.
- Hate Crime and Reporting Mechanisms: Understand the impact of hate crimes and how to tackle them in educational settings.
- Risks of Vaping to Children and Young People: Insights from focus groups and practical recommendations.
- Restorative Solutions: Explore restorative justice in schools and its impact.
- Poverty within the School Setting - Impact and Actions: Explore the impact poverty can have in the context of schools and how this has been addressed in practice within schools.
- NYSCP Update Including the Development of the Harmful Sexual Behaviour and Early Help Strategies: Find out about key developments in safeguarding and be part of the consultation on two important NYSCP strategies.
- Trauma Informed Practice: Familiarise yourself with the language of trauma and evidence-based research to use Relational Approaches in whole school initiatives.
- YGAM Young People and Gambling: This interactive session will provide you with insights into the blurred lines between gaming and gambling, cryptocurrency, advertising and influences, loot boxes, the impact of harm, case studies and how to support young people.

DSL Networks

The NYSCP delivers termly Designated Safeguarding Lead Network meetings. These events are well attended and free to attend for all schools and include presentations on topics such as:

- Reducing Parental Conflict
- Results from the Growing up in North Yorkshire Survey.
- LADO
- Learning from reviews
- Filtering and monitoring
- School Liaison Officer PADLET, NY Police
- Early Years Foundation Stage Framework
- How to engage secondary young people more in FEAST Activities
- NYES Changes
- Early Help
- NYSCP Business Unit
- Exclusions audit
- Changes to partnership website
- School safeguarding audit,

The introduction of termly 'twilight' training sessions for early years providers has further widened access to safeguarding learning, with positive feedback from practitioners.

"a very informative and relevant session, I wish more sessions were available on an evening as I'm a childminder"

Early Years Practitioner talking about a NYSCP Twilight Learning Session

Beyond 2025

As we move into 2025–2026, the NYSCP remains committed to deepening collaboration with education partners. We will continue to build on the strong foundations, fostering open dialogue, sharing learning, and co-developing innovative solutions to emerging safeguarding challenges. We aim to empower every education setting to play a leading role in keeping children safe. Together, we will further strengthen our partnership, champion the voice of education, and deliver positive outcomes for children across North Yorkshire.

Priority 3: Children’s Emotional and Mental Health

The NYSCP has prioritised emotional wellbeing through strategy development, training, and resource creation. The launch of the Being Young in North Yorkshire Strategy 2025–2028 marked a significant step, placing mental health, inclusion, and access to support at the heart of the county’s vision for children. This strategy was shaped by extensive consultation with children and practitioners, ensuring that lived experience and the voice of the child are central to all workstreams.

Multi-agency learning events have focused on topics such as professional curiosity, harmful sexual behaviour, and reducing parental conflict, with sessions often recorded for wider access.

The NYSCP business unit also had the privilege to speak with children’s groups for the development of the Being Young in North Yorkshire Strategy. The groups shared valuable insights into the complexities of mental health and how it is just as important as being physically healthy. They also shared how important it is to listen and understand children’s views on how they are feeling.

Over the past year, the NYSCP has conducted the 10th Growing Up in North Yorkshire survey, gathering the opinions children to form an accurate picture of the lives, interests, highs and lows of children in our county. It covers perceptions of school and sense of belonging, worries, wellbeing and resilience, and also asks specifically about online behaviours, both positive and negative.

The Growing Up in North Yorkshire Survey (GUNY) results were shared in a dedicated session, helping partners understand the lived experiences of young people and shape future priorities.

2024 Data	Boy Yr 6	Girl Yr 6	Boy Yr 8	Girl Yr 8	Boy Yr 10	Girl Yr 10
Low measure of resilience	17%	22%	32%	55%	31%	56%
High measure of resilience	29%	24%	14%	7%	13%	6%

Art from the Youth Commission showing what “Happy” means to them

Our latest GUNY figures show that overall, mental wellbeing, and worries are improving. However, our boys are improving far more than our girls who still worry far more, have low wellbeing and low resilience. Whilst boys’ wellbeing is back to levels from around a decade ago, girls are making only small improvements.

continued...

There have been a number of programmes designed to improve social, emotional and mental health, including digital and school-based:

Humber and North Yorkshire ICB health inequalities funding to expand alongside 'My Happy Mind', the mental wellbeing programme, into 29 primary schools in Scarborough and Whitby, providing a whole school approach to good emotional health and resilience.

Lumi Nova, the digital therapeutic programme for younger children commenced as a pilot initially and has become embedded.

Parent Carer Voice engaged with those young people who find attending school to be extremely emotionally challenging.

Sidewalk, in Scarborough, provides Turning Tides, an emotional coaching and wellbeing programme for older teens.

The "The Go To" website continues to be a platform for resources and information to support the nurturing of 'healthy minds' in North Yorkshire.

We have also seen the introduction of the Children and Young People's Mental Health Transformation Team, a tri-funded initiative (North Yorkshire Council, Humber and North Yorkshire Integrated Care Board (HNY ICB) and Tees, Esk and Wear Valleys NHS Trust) to examine every aspect of the North Yorkshire mental health and wellbeing system, based on the iThrive model.

One of the first tasks is to develop a shared sense of culture and language across all organisations. We are also ensuring that the whole of the system acts as a single entity to reduce duplication and promote cost-effectiveness. Key to the development of this single, unified system is both the digital offer, which needs to be comprehensive and up-to-date, and also schools to ensure referral processes are transparent, with appropriate and timely feedback.

We have consistently ensured that education is represented at our Social, Emotional and Mental Health Strategic group and education is seen as a key partner in our future mental health system, as evidenced by schools-based initiatives around mental wellbeing. Mental wellbeing and resilience is one of the key modules in our Healthy Schools Award Programme. We have expanded our Healthy Schools programme into Early Years settings now, with emotional wellbeing and development again a key feature.

80% of schools across North Yorkshire have now signed up to the Healthy Schools Award Programme. 118 early years settings have registered with the Healthy Early Years Programme.

Beyond 2025

The partnership recognises that children's mental health remains a complex and evolving challenge. The impact of social media, academic pressures, family circumstances, and the ongoing effects of the pandemic continue to shape the emotional wellbeing of children across North Yorkshire. The partnership is committed to deepening collaboration, sharing learning, and co-developing innovative solutions to address these challenges.

A Voice of the Child Toolkit is in development, informed by practitioner feedback and designed to support communication with all children, including those who are non-verbal or pre-verbal children.

The partnership is in the process of reviewing the Self-Harm and Suicide Ideation Pathway, with a dedicated learning session scheduled to support practitioners in responding to these complex issues.

"We love attending the celebration events as they are very well organised with interactive sessions for the children. Staff are always very friendly, and the lunchtime activities are interesting, informative and varied. Our pupils loved everything about the day, especially pedalling the electricity bike! The Healthy Schools programme helps us to generate ideas and keep wellbeing as a priority for our school."

From the June 2024 Harlow Carr Healthy Schools celebration event:

Priority 4: Online Safety, including responses to technology-assisted harm

Recognising the growing risks in digital spaces, the partnership has taken proactive steps to address online harms. We have spoken with children who have told us that we need to understand that digital spaces can also be an environment of safety, connection and fun.

“Professionals need to see the potential and positives of us being online as well as the risks”

Young Person

Updates to the BeAware knowledge hub ensure that professionals and families have access to the latest guidance and resources, easily accessible and in one place, and includes new content on sexually coerced exploitation, financial grooming, and early years online safety.

The #LookCloser campaign, an awareness raising initiative led by The Children’s Society, in partnership with the British Transport Police and the National County Lines Coordination Centre was promoted through events and resources, including a “Language Matters” session co-delivered with The Children’s Society, which helped practitioners understand and respond to the language used in online exploitation.

The partnership has also developed a poster/quick guide resource for “staying safe online” which has received positive feedback from practitioners and is proudly displayed in partnership wide.

Multi-agency training has addressed online safety through initiatives such as the Healthy Schools programme and the dissemination of GUNY flyers to parents and carers, which contain online safety information and advice. The partnership has also integrated online safety into health assessments and promoted digital safety through the Growing Healthy app.

NHS Humber and North Yorkshire ICB delivered a Safeguarding Conference on digital safety and transitional safeguarding, facilitating multi-agency training with strong attendance and positive feedback.

Tools such as HEEADSSS are used by partners in health services to capture and understand the experiences of children with specific sections looking at mood and mental health. The tool allows for the recording of the child’s voice, wishes and feelings, for staff to explore with them any areas of concern.

The business unit has also worked to develop our Children and Young People pages on the website to signpost to relevant national resources for spending time safely online. Resources have also been updated on the Parents and Carers page, which supports them with navigating digital safety for their children, encouraging regular and open conversation and safe use of devices. Regular updates and online trends (including Apps and games) are shared with partners through our MACE and NYSCP e-bulletin. For example, in the lead up to Christmas, information was shared with regard to how to set up devices safely for children during the festive period if they had been received as gifts.

*The HEEADSSS tool is a structured psychosocial interview framework used primarily with adolescents to assess their overall well-being and identify both risk and protective factors in their lives.

The slang and emoji dictionaries are documents produced by the Children's Society. It is hypothesised that the increase in views over this time period correlates with the release of the Netflix program "Adolescence", with an increase in professional curiosity over the emojis that young people are using to communicate. The Children's Society have been notified of the increase in views.

Emerging Online Trends:

There are constantly new and emerging social media apps that may host inappropriate content for children, for example, Yubo is a social media app that encourages young people to find new friends by allowing them to swipe left or right to connect, message and live stream.

Its social discovery feature encourages friendship with people from all over the world. Users swipe between profiles and videos being live streamed to meet new people with similar interests. There are separate communities for those aged 13-18 and those over the age of 18 to help keep teens safe on the app.

It has been involved in controversy since it launched (originally under the name Yellow), being dubbed by media as "Tinder for teens" due to its swipe-to-match functionality, which mimics the adult dating app.

For further information and wider reading around this application, please see the links below.

The partnership recognises that the digital landscape is rapidly evolving, with new risks emerging, for example, from the increasing use of artificial intelligence (AI), social media platforms, and online gaming. The complexities of AI, such as deepfakes, automated grooming, and algorithm-driven content, present fresh challenges for safeguarding children and young people. The partnership is committed to staying ahead of these developments as much as possible by continuously updating resources, delivering targeted training, and fostering collaboration across agencies.

Our practitioners have told us they want further information and resources to upskill and develop knowledge on AI-enabled abuse, strengthening practitioner confidence in responding to technology-assisted harm, and promoting digital literacy among children, families, and professionals. By maintaining a proactive and adaptive approach, NYSCP aims to ensure that every child and young person in North Yorkshire can navigate digital spaces safely and confidently.

Learning Themed Audits

Thematic audits are a core component of the North Yorkshire Safeguarding Children Partnership's (NYSCP) approach to quality assurance and continuous improvement. Led by the NYSCP Business Unit and supported by partners and strategic leads, these audits explore specific areas of safeguarding practice in depth. They help the partnership understand how effectively services are being delivered, how well local training is being embedded into practice, and where additional support may be of benefit.

Audits also play a key role in identifying learning from case reviews and ensuring that this learning informs future practice. Findings and recommendations are reported to the Practice and Learning Subgroup (PLS), who oversee progress, provide professional challenge, and monitor the implementation and impact of resulting actions.

During 2024 - 2025, we have undertaken learning themed audits covering;

- Children Missing from Home and Care
- Harmful Sexual Behaviour

Children Missing from Home and Care (MFHC) Findings

Our briefing paper is available here - MFHC Audit Briefing

We know that children who go missing are at significant risk of harm, including exploitation, abuse, and neglect. The MFHC audit was commissioned to ensure that safeguarding responses are timely, coordinated, and effective in mitigating these risks. It also aimed to improve understanding of the complex factors, such as trauma and neurodiversity, that influence children's behaviours.

Key findings highlighted strong initial recognition of missing incidents, effective information sharing, detailed Return to Home Interviews (RTHIs), and comprehensive safety planning. Risk-based interventions and collaboration, particularly within Multi-Agency Child Exploitation (MACE) Level 2 groups, were evident, with increased parental engagement and locality-based responses contributing to improved outcomes.

The audit also identified areas for development. Practitioners were encouraged to consider both trauma and neurodiversity when assessing behaviours. Improvements were needed in exploring child exploitation risks, recording MACE meeting information, sharing historical family data, and evidencing the impact of interventions.

Actions taken as a result of the audit findings include promoting a dual-lens approach to behaviour assessment, developing a toolkit to support child engagement, and providing resources for discussing suicide and mental health. Guidance for multi-agency strategy meetings is being updated, and a 'Risk Outside the Home' pathway is being developed.. Efforts are underway to improve understanding of the National Referral Mechanism (NRM), enhance digital safety through a 'conversation café', and raise awareness of CAMHS referral processes.

Harmful Sexual Behaviour Findings

The audit was initiated as part of a strategic priority by the NYSCP executive board, due to a recognised need to better understand the nature and scale of Harmful Sexual Behaviour (HSB) displayed by and experienced by children and young people in North Yorkshire. This included concerns about inconsistent responses, the identification of harmful behaviours, and a lack of clarity in support pathways.

With funding from the Police and Crime Commissioner, the North Yorkshire Safeguarding Children Partnership commissioned the NSPCC to lead a multi-agency audit into Harmful Sexual Behaviour (HSB).

Over 40 partner organisations contributed to this process, which aimed to gain a whole-system view of HSB,, to inform a strategic action plan. A dissemination event was held and was attended by 83 partners

The audit recognised strong multi-agency collaboration and a shared commitment to improvement, and highlighted effective use of assessment tools such as Signs of Safety, and a clear commitment to improving systems and practice. Agencies showed a willingness to engage in reflective learning, and there was evidence of coordinated responses and a desire to strengthen pathways of support.

Findings identified the need for greater consistency across agencies, improved early identification and preventative education, and more consistent use of assessment tools. It also found that a broader continuum of support was required.

Audit outcomes helped shape the development of a three-year HSB strategy based on the USS model: Understand, Scale, Support. Strategic actions include improving understanding of HSB across North Yorkshire, capturing its scale through consistent data collection, supporting practitioners with clear pathways and training, and promoting healthy relationships as the "golden thread" that runs throughout the approach.

Following feedback from practitioners, audit findings are now summarised in a more visually impactful way, with the integration of a section entitled "questions for reflection" allowing the document to be used in individual reflection and team discussion.

Joint Targeted Area Inspection (JTAI) - January 2025

In January 2025, North Yorkshire was subject to a Joint Targeted Area Inspection (JTAI), focusing on the multi-agency response to unborn children and children aged 0–7 who are victims of domestic abuse. The inspection was carried out by Ofsted, the Care Quality Commission (CQC), His Majesty’s Inspectorate of Constabulary and Fire & Rescue Services (HMICFRS), and His Majesty’s Inspectorate of Probation (HMIP).

Watch the JTAI Partner Update – YouTube

Purpose and Scope

The inspection explored how effectively agencies in North Yorkshire work together to identify, assess, and support young children and unborn babies living with domestic abuse. It examined both strategic leadership and frontline practice, with a particular focus on:

- Early identification and intervention
- Information sharing and risk assessment
- The voice of the child and lived experience
- Support for non-abusing parents and carers

Multi-Agency Collaboration

The inspection highlighted the strength of North Yorkshire’s partnership working. Inspectors praised the Practice and Learning

Subgroup (PLS) as “dynamic,” noting that it provided a clear structure for learning and improvement. The inspection team observed strong relationships between agencies, with evidence of shared responsibility and a commitment to safeguarding at all levels.

Frontline professionals across health, education, social care, and the police were commended for their dedication and collaborative approach. The inspection also recognised the role of the NYSCP in coordinating learning, audits, and communication across the system.

Inspectors praised the “mature and respectful relationships” between statutory and community partners across the North Yorkshire Safeguarding Children Partnership (NYSCP), the Domestic Abuse Local Partnership Board (DALPB), and the Community Safety Partnership (CSP). This collaborative culture was seen as a key enabler of effective safeguarding practice.

“There is a strong culture of collaboration and mutual respect across agencies, with a shared commitment to safeguarding children.”

Key Findings and Learning Points

The inspection identified several areas of strength and effective practice. Including highlighting the use of a consistent practice model across early help and children's social care as a strength, describing it as a “vehicle for giving families the skills and insight they need to protect their children from domestic abuse.”

Inspectors also commended the quality of direct work with children, noting that it helped them “understand what is happening to them and their family,” and praised the early identification of risks to unborn children, particularly through child-focused recording.

The inspection recognised the partnership's ability to respond to the diverse needs of communities across North Yorkshire without losing sight of shared strategic priorities. It also acknowledged the breadth of support available through statutory, commissioned, and voluntary services. Additionally, it was noted that early years providers and schools across North Yorkshire are well-informed about where to access safeguarding guidance and resources, making effective use of the NYSCP website, support from named professionals, and a wide range of targeted training opportunities. This awareness was seen as a strength in ensuring consistent and confident safeguarding practice across education settings.

Other areas of strength included:

- Proactive use of the Domestic Violence Disclosure Scheme (Clare's Law) by North Yorkshire Police
- Effective risk management through MAPPA and MARAC
- Promotion of evidence-based prosecutions to support and protect victims
- High-quality multi-agency auditing and quality assurance processes
- Clear pathways into early help services, with strong use of universal and targeted support to reduce risk and build resilience
- Practitioners demonstrated a commitment to understanding the lived experience of children, including unborn babies, and used this insight to inform planning and decision-making
- Multi-agency meetings and tools were used effectively to assess and manage risk, with good examples of timely and proportionate responses
- High-quality direct work helped children understand their experiences and feel supported.

Areas for Development

The JTAI identified areas of effective work and good practice; however, it also provided opportunities to develop these further, and include;

- Further assurance that children are recognised as victims in their own right and their voices are amplified in multi-agency meetings.
- Improving how children are formally recorded as victims, on partner systems such as NICHE *
- Continuing to strengthen inter-agency communication,
- Ensuring appropriate health professionals are present in strategy meetings, making the health landscape clear to professionals.
- Evaluating and embedding domestic abuse training across agencies.
- Addressing gaps in services, with emphasis on services for primary-aged children and younger.
- Enhancing data use for scrutiny and evaluation.
- Ensuring timely Operation Encompass  notifications and extending to Early Years providers.

*A police records management system used by several UK forces - See HMICFRS

 A process police use to provide schools with information on domestic abuse incidents experienced by their pupils. See HMICFRS

NYSCP, alongside the Community Safety Partnership (CSP), has taken forward a comprehensive set of actions to address the recommendations. These actions are being delivered through a coordinated programme of work involving strategic leads, task and finish groups, and operational subgroups.

Progress is monitored and assured through the NYSCP Executive Board, the Practice and Learning Subgroup (PLS), and the CSP. These groups provide oversight, professional challenge, and scrutiny of implementation, ensuring that actions are embedded into practice and that their effectiveness is evaluated. Updates are routinely presented to these forums, where partners assess impact, share learning, and agree on next steps to strengthen safeguarding arrangements across the county.

Next Steps

- Key actions from the inspection have been added to the PLS workplan and will be monitored through the governance structure as outlined above.
- Learning from the inspection will be embedded into future training, including DSL briefings and online learning events.
- The NYSCP will continue to strengthen its approach to domestic abuse through the development of new guidance, toolkits, and multi-agency audits.

Spotlight

As part of the recent Early Years online learning event, Early Years providers who were recently part of the JTAI inspection and audit gave feedback on their experience. Providers shared verbally on the day the experience they had, being open about the challenge and pressure they initially felt at being asked, but overall finding the experience very positive.

The incredibly positive work highlighted by those providers who were part of the inspection process has been recognised by the partnership, and all involved have been given a partnership award.

A written statement was also shared:

“We recently had the opportunity to be part of a Joint Targeted Area Inspection (JTAI), and I’d like to share what was a genuinely positive and reassuring experience. During the inspection, I had the chance to speak directly with the Ofsted inspector over the telephone about how the local authority supports us in protecting our most vulnerable children. They discussed how the local authority shared information, how children including babies are kept safe when they don't have a voice, and how we would be confident in following safeguarding procedures. They specifically talked about domestic abuse and how we receive information from the local authority to be able to support families and children in our setting.

What truly stood out was the inspector’s interest in understanding how our setting works in partnership with local services. I was able to confidently speak about the robust systems in place here in North Yorkshire – the early help pathways, strong communication with social workers, the local authority and the accessible safeguarding support available to our staff. We felt listened to and respected as professionals, and the process really reinforced the importance of our everyday practice.

The inspection didn’t feel intimidating – it felt like a conversation about what we all do well together to keep children safe. It highlighted the strength of local collaboration and the shared commitment across agencies to identifying concerns early and offering the right support.

For our team, being part of the JTAI affirmed that we are not working alone and that as a setting we are following the right practices and receiving the correct information to keep children safe as well as how much support we receive from the local authority.”

School Safeguarding Audit

The School Safeguarding Audit is a biennial self-assessment designed to assure the North Yorkshire Safeguarding Children Partnership (NYSCP) that schools and colleges are fulfilling their statutory safeguarding responsibilities. For the 2024–2025 cycle, the audit underwent development to ensure it meets statutory requirements and provides practical value for schools, supporting continuous improvement in safeguarding practice, and identifying good practice.

Preparation for the audit began with a collaborative approach, bringing together partners from schools, the School Improvement Team, and a range of departments within North Yorkshire Council, including HR, Inclusion, Outdoor Learning, and Early Years. This multi-agency partnership was central to shaping the audit tool, ensuring it reflected the realities and needs of diverse educational settings across the county

Throughout the development process, feedback from schools and partners was sought and incorporated. The audit questions were streamlined to reduce duplication and improve clarity, and supporting documentation was enhanced to guide schools through the process with a dedicated knowledge hub on the NYSCP website and “drop-in” sessions for support.

A key innovation in this year’s audit was the introduction of a dedicated section on safeguarding culture. The NYSCP recognises that the culture within a school is fundamental to effective safeguarding, setting the tone for leadership, values, and everyday practice. The new culture section enables schools to reflect on how their ethos and environment contribute to keeping children safe, and encourages a whole-school approach to safeguarding

The audit was written in line with the latest Keeping Children Safe in Education (KCSiE) 2024 guidance, ensuring that all sections and questions are aligned with national standards and best practice. The deadline for completion was 31 March 2025, and the findings and recommendations will be disseminated at the Designated Safeguarding Lead (DSL) Conference in September 2025 and will be reported on in next year’s annual report.

A dedicated area for the biennial Schools Safeguarding Audit has been created so that settings can access the new FAQs and guidance, and a video introduction and user guide on how the audit tool works. Information can be found at - NYSCP

Beyond 2025 Education

Looking ahead, consultation is already underway for a newly revised audit tool for 2026–2027. The 2024–2025 audit represents the first iteration of change, with lessons learned from this cycle informing future developments. NYSCP remains committed to working with partners to ensure the audit continues to support schools in strengthening safeguarding arrangements and improving outcomes for children across North Yorkshire

Section 11 Audit

The Section 11 Governance Audit is a collaborative process designed to provide assurance that statutory safeguarding responsibilities are being met across North Yorkshire. This audit is jointly coordinated by the North Yorkshire Safeguarding Children Partnership (NYSCP), the North Yorkshire Safeguarding Adults Board (NYSAB), and the City of York Safeguarding Adults Board (CYSAB).

Early 2025 was dedicated to preparing for the audit, with partners from children's and adults' services, local authorities, health, police, education, and the voluntary sector working together to review and refine the audit tool and methodology. This preparation ensured that the audit would be robust, relevant, and aligned with the latest statutory guidance, including Working Together to Safeguard Children.

From a statutory perspective, the Section 11 audit must be completed at least every two years, ensuring regular review and continuous improvement of safeguarding arrangements.

The audit brings together agencies from both children's and adults' safeguarding, aligning questions and processes to create a unified approach and reduce duplication for organisations working across both the children's and adults sectors.

Findings from the audit are analysed and shared across the partnership, supporting the identification and dissemination of good practice, as well as highlighting areas for further development. This cross-partnership approach strengthens safeguarding across North Yorkshire and York, ensuring that children, young people, and adults are protected by effective, joined-up systems and a culture of continuous improvement.

A 7-point briefing summarising the key findings and learning from the 2023–24 Section 11 audit is available on the NYSCP website, providing partners and stakeholders with clear, accessible information on the outcomes and priorities identified through the audit process.

Child Safeguarding Practice Review Group

Number of notifications made to the CSPRP in 2024/2025	1
Number of Local Child Safeguarding Practice Reviews (LCSPR) awaiting publication (due to ongoing Police investigations)	3
Number of cases notified to North Yorkshire Safeguarding Practice Review Group (SPRG) in 2024/2025 by partners for consideration	5
Of the 5 cases notified to SPRG 2024/2025 for consideration, which have been reviewed locally for learning?	4

The NYSCP understand the duties placed on it in Working Together to Safeguard Children 2023 Statutory Guidance to refer and review serious safeguarding incidents for children. The NYSCP also recognises the importance of reviewing safeguarding incidents that do not reach the threshold for a notification to the National Child Safeguarding Practice Review Panel (National Panel).

When a serious safeguarding incident is reviewed, partners are requested to answer a number of key lines of enquiry questions. The Safeguarding Practice Review Group and senior leaders from involved agencies come together to discuss the key lines of enquiry and to agree on multi-agency recommendations to recognise good practice and to strengthen the work undertaken by frontline practitioners.

Over the reporting period 2024/2025, the NYSCP has notified the National Panel of 1 serious safeguarding incident for a child. The National Panel agreed with the partnership's decision that robust learning had been identified through the Rapid Review process. Due to nationally recognised delays in the criminal justice process, there are three LCSPRs awaiting publication. For all three children, robust safeguarding processes were implemented at the time of the incidents and the learning and recommendations have been embedded across the workforce.

Over the past year, the NYSCP have received positive feedback from the National Panel in respect of the quality of the reports and recommendations submitted.

North Yorkshire Safeguarding Children Partnership recognise the value in reviewing serious incidents for children that do not reach the threshold of requiring notification to the National Child Safeguarding Practice Review Panel and the same methodology is used to review these incidents. Of the five cases notified to the Safeguarding Practice Review Group, four cases were felt to require local, multi-agency learning. The other child's case was reviewed as a single agency after consideration by the Safeguarding Practice Review Group.

Learning from both national and local reviews informs the multi-agency training offer across the partnership, for example learning events have been delivered on Professional Curiosity and Information Sharing. The reviews have also led to a number of tangible outcomes such as the development of guidance regarding Managing Different Professional Perspectives and Mutual Challenge which was co-developed with colleagues from North Yorkshire's Safeguarding Adults Board.

The NYSCP also hold learning events for practitioners who have worked directly with the child and their family. This strengths based approach supports practitioners to reflect on their involvement in a supportive environment and learning from these events is shared across the partnership.

Learning from Safeguarding Incidents

Child Y and Sibling Z

Child Y, at the time of review, was a six-week-old baby who was found to have fractures of all four limbs. Both of Child Y's parents had additional vulnerabilities that increased the risk for Child Y and Sibling Z. Each parent had difficulties with their mental health, mother had experienced domestic violence as a child and father reported having a controlling parent.

Child AC

Child AC was born prematurely at 25 weeks gestation and died at 3 months of age whilst still an in-patient on a neonatal unit. The concerns for AC centred around parental substance use, maternal mental health difficulties and domestic abuse.

Good Practice

Relationship-Based Practice: was evident throughout the work of all professionals and both families.

Robust Safeguarding Responses: when concerns came to light safeguarding measures were implemented in a timely way, ensuring the child's safety.

Multi-Agency Meetings: were convened in order to share information and to plan next steps.

Learning

The review group found that there could have been more professional curiosity and about the adult's known vulnerabilities and lack of social support. This should have formed the basis of a cumulative risk assessment. Recognition of non-accidental injuries in non-mobile babies is crucial and needs to be acted on at the earliest opportunity.

Need for improved information sharing, particularly with regard to father's information.

Understanding, capturing and acting on the "voice" of non-verbal children.

Multiple agencies were involved, but there were missed opportunities to fully understand and address the risks.

Impact

As a result of both these reviews, the NYSCP has considered a number of thematic learning points which it has taken action to address:

Information Sharing: Guidance and learning events delivered and scheduled for 2025.

Father's Information: Practice and Learning subgroup reviewing how father's information can be captured in assessments and multi-agency meetings.

Voice of Children: Practice guidance available, toolkit development ongoing.

Injuries to Non-Mobile Baby: Review of practitioner understanding and promotion of NYSCP policy/pathway. Assurance work is ongoing

ICON Message Delivery: Embedded in midwifery and health visiting, with further assurance and presentations planned [1].

Learning Themes from our 2024/2025 Reviews

The NYSCP constantly seeks to develop frontline practice in order to improve the lives of children and their families. This is done both by undertaking reviews into serious safeguarding incidents and by understanding the impact of national learning reviews.

National Learning

For example, in the case of Child AC the review group considered how learning from The Myth of Invisible Men report should influence recommendations made for practitioners in North Yorkshire.

In the case of Child Y, the group were minded to reference the national and local guidance on: “Babies Cry, You can Cope.” The NYSCP ICON guidance supports parents and carers to understand and manage normal infant crying to prevent abusive head trauma.

Practitioner Learning Events

For those practitioners who have worked with a family where there is a serious safeguarding incident, the NYSCP will hold practitioner events in order that those practitioners have a safe space to review their work with the family and to ensure their experiences are able to be learnt from. Practitioners provide positive feedback about these events and express that they have a significant impact on their practice.

Learning for Professionals Thematic Search

The NYSCP “learning for professionals” page is an important resource for capturing the learning from reviews, and multi agency audits.

We encourage partners to explore the learning and take the opportunity to share among teams and reflect on what the outcomes mean for how they work with children, young people and families across North Yorkshire.

Under each review or audit hosted on our website, practitioners will find a list of bullet points, highlighting the safeguarding themes the learning covers in order to assist them in finding the learning that is most relevant to their role. It also links any key relevant documents based on that theme.

Safeguarding Practice Reviews

Sometimes a child suffers a serious injury or death as a result of abuse or neglect. Understanding not only what happened but also why it happened can help improve our response in the future.

The purpose of serious child safeguarding case reviews, at local and national level, is to identify improvements that can be made to safeguard and promote the welfare of children. They should seek to prevent or reduce the risk of recurrence of similar incidents. They are not conducted to hold individuals, organisations, or agencies to account. Sharing from the learning of these reviews is vital for all practitioners to reflect on to ensure practice is continually evolving in the best interest of children, young people and families.

Our Website and Social Media

The NYSCP website is designed to be a “one-stop-shop” for all partners across North Yorkshire to keep abreast of all safeguarding information, policies, procedures and guides. There are specific sections for safeguarding professionals, communities, parents and carers and young people. Pages and content are reviewed regularly in consultation with partners to ensure information remains relevant and impactful.

Over 2024/2025 work has been undertaken in order to ensure the website meets the needs of practitioners, with the practitioner forum group completing a review. This led to the development of a ‘walkthrough video’ and the addition of a dedicated “National Learning” page. This page contains links to national legislation and summary documents to support practitioner’s understanding of legislative updates and the impact the changes have on their practice.

Over 2024/2025 we have updated numerous documents to ensure they reflect both national and local learning and legislation changes.

Updated documents of note are:

The NYSCP YouTube channel now houses over 70 learning events. Over this period, videos were viewed over 10,000 times, with a monthly audience of around 400 viewers.

The NYSCP free monthly e-bulletin gives a summary of key safeguarding updates, resources and information, both local and National, directly to partners' inboxes. The bulletin currently has 1800 subscribers.

Impact

Between March 2024 and April 2025, the NYSCP website had over 289,000 views by around 100,000 active users, and over a typical 90-day period, there is approximately 89,000 views of the website. This demonstrates the importance of us maintaining and promoting the work of the partnership through the website.

Beyond 2025

Glossary of Safeguarding Terminology for Parents

Parents and carers have told the Business Unit that the terminology used within safeguarding processes can be difficult to understand. To address this, work has started work on developing a Glossary of Safeguarding Terminology which will provide guidance for parents, carers and professionals on key safeguarding terminology used within the partnership.

A draft copy has been shared and reviewed by the Parents by Experience group, amendments are now being made based on the group's feedback. The glossary will be organized into sections and listed A-Z to make it easier for parents to search for information. Descriptions will be shorter and more concise where possible and once completed this glossary will be accessible on our Parents and Carer's Page.

New Online Universal Referral Form

North Yorkshire Safeguarding Children Partnership will be launching a new online referral form in May 2025 to refer children to the North Yorkshire Children and Families Service.

This new form ensures there is a secure way to share sensitive and personal information and helps practitioners include all the information needed to ensure the child and their family receive the right support at the right time.

The new online referral form will have two portals: one for referrals in professional capacity and one for all other referrals (e.g. parents, carers, neighbours, members of the community) with the capacity to remain anonymous.

Professional online referral form: Refer a child to North Yorkshire Children and Families Service

Working Together to Safeguard Children 2023

The NYSCP has taken a proactive and structured approach to embedding the reforms introduced in Working Together to Safeguard Children 2023. Recognising the guidance as a reaffirmation of shared responsibility and a call for strengthened multi-agency collaboration, the partnership focused on ensuring that the changes were not only understood but meaningfully applied across all sectors.

A dedicated operational task and finish group met monthly throughout 2024 to coordinate implementation. This group developed a comprehensive action log, supported the review of over 140 partnership documents, and facilitated cross-agency dialogue on the implications for practice. The group's work culminated in a final report to the NYSCP Executive, which was well-received and endorsed.

To support workforce understanding, the NYSCP launched a dedicated webpage housing key resources, including;

- A summary of changes
- FAQs
- A recorded partner briefing with over 250 views
- YouTube briefing with over 700 page views and 250+ video views.
- A children and young people's guide and animation developed by the DfE

A learning event was held in December 2024 for all partners where all updates in relation to Working Together were shared. This event was delivered by the Business Unit, alongside statutory partners and relevant agencies to highlight the changes for all organisations. This event can viewed here: North Yorkshire Safeguarding Children Partnership \(NYSCP\) Developments in Safeguarding Masterclass Webinars – December 2024 | NYES Info, attended by 124 professionals, with an additional 700 views of the recording.

Feedback was overwhelmingly positive, with attendees reporting increased knowledge of how the changes will impact on their work with children and their families and importantly also supported an understanding of partner roles and responsibilities.

Multi Agency Safeguarding Arrangements (MASA)

The NYSCP has continued to strengthen its Multi-Agency Safeguarding Arrangements (MASA) in line with the revised Working Together to Safeguard Children 2023 (WTSC 2023). These arrangements set out how safeguarding partners work together to promote the welfare of children and ensure effective responses to safeguarding concerns across North Yorkshire.

Updated Multi-Agency Safeguarding Arrangements (MASA) were finalised, approved and published in late 2024. These arrangements reflect the strengthened expectations for transparency, accountability, and inclusive governance.

Through these efforts, NYSCP has demonstrated a commitment to not only complying with statutory requirements but also using the reforms as a catalyst to strengthen local safeguarding culture, improve consistency, and reinforce the centrality of child-centred practice.

Statutory Partnership and Shared Accountability

The MASA outlines the joint responsibilities of the three statutory safeguarding partners:

- North Yorkshire Council
- North Yorkshire Police
- Humber and North Yorkshire Integrated Care Board

These partners share equal and joint responsibility for setting the strategic direction of safeguarding in the county. Notably, the Education Subgroup was formally adopted into the NYSCP structure, ensuring that the education sector is fully represented in strategic planning and operational delivery. The MASA confirms our commitment to working collaboratively to identify and respond to the needs of children and families, with a strong emphasis on early help, prevention, and continuous learning.

The updated MASA document reflects the expectations of WTSC 2023, including:

- Strengthened governance and accountability structures
- Clear escalation and dispute resolution processes
- A focus on inclusive representation, including the formal adoption of the Education Subgroup
- A commitment to transparency and public engagement

To read the MASA for the NYSCP, see the NYSCP Website

Multi-Agency Training and Learning

The NYSCP training programme is designed to strengthen safeguarding practice across North Yorkshire by equipping professionals, volunteers, and community partners with the knowledge and skills needed to protect children and help them thrive.. Training is aligned with national guidance, including Working Together 2023, reflects local priorities, and is developed based on learning from audits and reviews.

All practitioners can access Safeguarding Children Basic Awareness E-Learning which is a free, 45-minute online course aimed at individuals in organisations and voluntary groups. It provides foundational knowledge on child protection and safeguarding, with a certificate issued upon completion.

Designated Safeguarding Lead (DSL) Training

Regular DSL network meetings and refresher courses are scheduled throughout the academic year. These sessions support new and existing DSLs in schools and early years settings. Following on from feedback from schools, the School Improvement Service have created a document which indicates to DSLs which training is on offer to them, separating out mandatory training so it is clear what DSLs need to attend in order to be compliant with Ofsted and other regulatory authorities. Held annually in June, Safeguarding Week features over 65 sessions and attracts more than 2,200 attendees. It brings together children's, adults', and community safeguarding partnerships across North Yorkshire, York, Hull, and East Riding.

Learning from Child Deaths

The death of a child is a devastating loss that profoundly affects bereaved parents as well as siblings, grandparents, extended family, friends and professionals who were involved in supporting the child and their family in any capacity. We understand that both families and professionals experiencing such a tragedy require compassion and empathy. They will want to know what has happened to their child, and in time, will also want to be reassured that professionals have learnt from their child's death in order that the deaths of other children are prevented.

The Child Death Review process is undertaken in accordance with statutory guidance set out in national legislation, Working Together to Safeguard Children and in the Child Death Review Statutory and Operational Guidance. North Yorkshire and the City of York Local Authorities have agreed to work together to review the deaths of children in their respective areas and have worked together in this regard since 2008.

The purpose of the Child Death Review Process is to try to ascertain the cause of a child death and put in place interventions to protect other children and prevent future deaths wherever possible. The process covers a number of different elements, listed below:

- Document, analyse and review information in relation to each child that dies.
- To make recommendations to all relevant organisations.
- To produce an annual report highlighting local patterns and trends in child death.
- To contribute to local, regional and national initiatives.

Child Death Review partners, the Local Authorities and Integrated Care Boards for North Yorkshire and City of York have a responsibility to undertake the Child Death Review Process as set out in the Children Act 2004, and as amended by the Children and Social Work Act 2017.

The CDOP is multi-agency with differing areas of professional expertise with the child death review process being undertaken locally for all children who are normally resident within North Yorkshire and City of York.

The death of any child is a tragedy and it is vital that all child deaths are carefully reviewed. This is so that we may learn as much as possible from them, in order to better support families and to try to prevent future deaths.

Child Death Review Statutory and Operational Guidance is the core statutory guidance that sets out the entire child death review process, from the moment of death to the final review by the Child Death Overview Panel (CDOP.)

For the purposes of child death review partners, there are two distinct categories of child deaths:

Expected Deaths: A child's death is recorded as an "expected" death when their death was anticipated, such as for children born with life-limiting conditions. These are verified by a medical practitioner and do not require a Joint Agency Response Meeting (JARM).

Unexpected Deaths: An unexpected death is defined as a death that was not anticipated as a significant possibility 24 hours before the child dies. When a child dies unexpectedly, child death review partners are required to attend a Joint Agency Response Meeting, involving police, health, and social care professionals. Such deaths may be due to trauma, sudden illness, or unknown causes and require immediate investigation and safeguarding considerations, which are reviewed through the Joint Agency Response Meeting.

Child V

Child V was a four-month-old baby who sadly died while sharing a bed with their parents. Child V's parents were working well with professionals and had made significant changes which demonstrated their commitment to providing a safe and positive home for Child V.

Good Practice

The review found good practice regarding safe sleep messages being given to parents at key touch points.

Probation colleagues were in attendance at both review meetings and shared positive information regarding how Child V's father was engaging with their service.

The review group considered the specific vulnerabilities of very young babies, and the report references an understanding that children who are exposed to domestic abuse sadly have an increased risk of Sudden and Unexplained Death in infancy however there was no information to suggest that this had been a feature in parents relationship

A practitioners' event was held to explore how more tailored messages could be given to families. This event was very well received with the practitioners advising that they had space to be able to reflect on the positive practice and support they provided to the family.

The event revealed the practitioners had understood risks and shared these with the family. However they reflected that the family may not have understood that taking a child into their bed in the night is the same as co-sleeping. It was felt there need to be more "What if" conversations and this is around asking:

- "what if you are out of routine?"
- "what if one of you was particularly tired?"
- "what would you do in those circumstances?"

Impact

Parents were using prescribed medication which impacted on their sleeping habits and more tailored conversations may have supported their understanding of the importance of Child V being put to sleep in a cot.

It was agreed that parent's understanding of key safeguarding messages, such as "Day or Night Sleep Right" and ICON was not tested out with consideration to their specific needs and vulnerabilities.

As a result of Child V's tragic death, the NYSCP developed the #AskMe campaign which can be viewed here alongside some of the other campaigns the NYSCP has promoted over 2024/2025.

#Ask Me

#AskMe..... Have the Conversation is a campaign aimed at professionals across North Yorkshire to encourage them to have conversations with new and expectant parents about how they are feeling about a number of aspects of having and caring for a baby.

Having a baby is a life changing event that brings many joys and challenges. Some parents may find it difficult to share with professionals that they are struggling, therefore it is crucial for all frontline practitioners who come into contact with new partners to have the confidence to explore with them how they are feeling and coping with the changes and challenges parenthood can bring.

#AskMe is about professionals asking the questions of new and expectant parents about how they are feeling and managing with the challenges in a supportive and non-judgmental way.

The key messages are derived from a series of common things that are often a concern to new parents . The campaign was borne out of learning from a thematic review undertaken by NYSCP that considered three similar cases of non-accidental injury to non-mobile infants . As part of the campaign planning, the NYSCP was able to link in with parents who had tragically suffered the death of their child due to SUDI . The parents bravely shared their experiences with the partnership, explaining that they hoped their involvement might support others and their views were then incorporated into the #AskMe conversation prompts . The NYSCP would like to sincerely thank both parents for their courage and determination in sharing their insights in order to develop future safeguarding practice.

The campaign is based around the consolidation of key resources for partners that are easily accessible on one page on the NYSCP website, alongside a series of conversation prompts (#AskMe) to build confidence and raise awareness of the need to ask parents about how they are feeling around aspects of caring for their baby in those crucial first few months of life.

The resources and conversation starters cover such topics as:

- Safe sleep
- Safe feeding
- ICON (Babies cry, you can cope)
- Parental mental health

Do you know who you can turn to when it all feels too much?

How are you coping with the lack of sleep?

How do you feel about being a parent?

Day or Night, Sleep Right

Day or Night, Sleep Right is a key message to those who care for infants across North Yorkshire and York. The 'Day or Night, Sleep Right' campaign has been created as a way of providing information regarding the importance of safe sleeping environments for infants to reduce the number who have sadly died as a result of Sudden Unexpected Death in Infancy (SUDI).

Sometimes families may be away from home and 'out of routine' for example on holiday or visiting relatives. In light of this the Partnerships are urging people to think about safe sleeping arrangements for their infants at all times.

More information about the Day or Night Sleep Right Campaign can be accessed here: NYSCP safeguardingchildren.co.uk

Having a baby is a life changing event that brings many joys and challenges. Some parents may find it difficult to share with professionals that they are struggling, therefore it is crucial for all frontline practitioners who come into contact with new partners to have the confidence to explore with them how they are feeling and coping with the changes and challenges parenthood can bring.

The North Yorkshire Safeguarding Children Partnership, (NYSCP) and City of York Safeguarding Children Partnership, (CYSCP) have been actively working on several initiatives to enhance child safety and prevent Sudden Unexpected Death in Infancy (SUDI). Recognising the vulnerability of children under the age of one, safe sleep is now a feature in all Child Protection Plans for these children. This effort is part of a broader strategy to ensure that safe sleep practices are embedded into everyday practices through collaboration with multi-agency partners.

CDOP Campaigns 2024 - 2025

Over the last 12 months, North Yorkshire and York’s CDOP has launched several targeted campaigns aimed at preventing child deaths and raising public awareness around key safety issues.

Who’s In Charge?

North Yorkshire and York Safeguarding Children Partnerships have raised awareness of the importance of ensuring there is always a safe and sober adult available to care for children. The campaign, “Who’s in Charge,” was designed to be launched in Safeguarding Week 2024 to highlight the importance of understanding how alcohol and drugs impact on people’s capacity to respond to a child’s needs. The campaign supports parents to identify their own solutions in encouraging families to designate a sober adult at gatherings like BBQs and parties.

This campaign was designed to link in with previous CDOP campaigns regarding Safe Sleep, such as the “Day or Night Sleep Right” campaign which explains that to reduce the risk of sudden infant death, the safest place for a baby to sleep is in their own flat, separate sleep space, such as a cot or Moses basket.

The “Who’s in Charge?” campaign has been available to view on both North Yorkshire and York’s social media platforms, partnership websites and via e-bulletins circulated throughout the year. Child death review partners have worked closely with members of the Communications and Engagement teams in both local authority areas to ensure all practitioners and parents have access to consistent safety messages.

Be Bright, Be Seen, Be Safe

As a result of several tragic incidents on roads in North Yorkshire and York in 2024, the Child Death Overview Panel agreed to work with partners on a, “Be Bright, Be Seen, Be Safe” campaign which focuses on increasing education through promoting the visibility of children and young people to road users, especially during the darker winter months.

The campaign is supported by the Communication and Engagement teams in both local authorities with the #BeBrightBeSeenBeSafe campaigns having been posed on both social and print media, with broadcasts also being made on local radio stations.

North Yorkshire Police issued seasonal guidance reminding cyclists, horse riders, and pedestrians to ensure they are visible to other road users as the nights draw in. This aligns with the core message of “Be Bright Be Seen,” encouraging the use of:

- Reflective clothing and accessories
- Bike lights
- High-visibility gear
- Safe crossing practices and awareness of surroundings

The North Yorkshire and York Road Safety Partnership have identified four priority areas of action:

1. Education
2. Engagement
3. Engineering
4. Enforcement

Once children reach young adulthood with greater mobility and freedom, their exposure to risk, alongside an under-developed awareness of danger and consequence can lead to a higher likelihood of acting on impulse and peer pressure. According to the North Yorkshire and York Road Safety Partnership Strategy 2021 - 2026, “the early years behind the wheel are the most risky, and too many young drivers and passengers are overrepresented in collision and casualty statistics nationally and locally. Children and young people under 25's form around a quarter (23%) of people killed or seriously injured on the road, and whilst there has been a year-on-year reduction among children and young people (aged 16-25) being killed or seriously injured, among children aged under 16, this remains static.

Getting to school safely is taught in schools, through the Bikeability and pedestrian training sessions, which take place throughout the year, and materials have been developed to promote safe travel practices, such as wearing reflective clothing and using well-lit routes. The campaign is supported by the Communication and Engagement teams in both local authorities, with the #BeBrightBeSeenBeSafe campaigns having been posed on both social and print media, with broadcasts also being made on local radio stations.

The NYSCP Partnership Achievement Awards

The North Yorkshire Safeguarding Children Partnership Awards celebrates the multi-agency work between the Local Authority, Police, NHS and wider partners in safeguarding vulnerable children and their families.

The recipients of this year's awards have all demonstrated their passion and determination to keep children and young people at the heart of the work they do in what can be exceptionally challenging circumstances.

Strategic leads would like to take this opportunity to say a heartfelt "thank you" to not only the award winners but also all other practitioners who work, day in day out, to keep children safe and to help them to achieve their full potential. The Partnership Achievement Awards are given to individuals or groups working or volunteering with children and young people.

Awards have been presented to the following professionals and teams over 2024/2025:

Louise Davies, Acute Safeguarding Nurse at HDFT and Neil Bithell, Deputy Headteacher at Glusburn CP School whose contribution to MACE has been pivotal, emphasising critical information sharing within both health and educational networks.

Sally Clarke, Children and Families Worker within North Yorkshire Council who always goes above and beyond for the children and young people of North Yorkshire. When asked for feedback, young people said Sally is so supportive and doesn't judge, they feel so comfortable opening up to Sally.

PC Alex Warren from North Yorkshire Police, who shows great understanding and empathy for children who go missing from home. Alex genuinely listens to the child and understands their reasoning for going missing and advocates for the child's voice in his reports.

Adam Ebzao, Founder of Dopeamin uses exercise to support young people's positive mental health. Dopeamin are an activity provider on FEAST, a Department for Education-funded programme that gives free places on holiday activities to eligible children and young people.

Phoebe Bond, Exploitation Prevention Officer for the Children's Society, who supported MACE events across the County.

Samantha Lightbody, Attendance Support Worker from JustB, who persevered in ensuring a young person who was not in education was recognised as at risk and offered the correct support to improve their circumstances.

Chloe Webster and Rachel Milner from Thomas Hinderwell Primary Academy, Caroline Aspinall from Seedlings Montessori Nursery and Emily Ashworth from Happy Jays Nursery, who were all involved in the JTAI audit process. They were all able to demonstrate how tenacious they were in pursuing the best outcomes for the children in their care. They demonstrated effective multi-agency work and adapted their safeguarding practices in order to implement safety plans.

Jemma Cormack, Safeguarding Manager at North Yorkshire Police, who chairs MARAC meetings across North Yorkshire and York. Jemma's knowledge and passion around domestic abuse was recognised by JTAI inspectors, who were impressed with Jemma's compassion and dedication in her role, stating they could see that she 'lives and breathes' the work that she does

Claire Gordon, Social Worker at North Yorkshire Council and Ashley Hutchinson, Army Welfare Officer at Catterick Garrison, who worked together with a family and were able to demonstrate excellent multi-agency working in pursuit of children living on the Barracks. They both demonstrated professional curiosity around ethnicity and culture and were able to work with parents to make positive changes.

The NYSCP is looking for nominations for future achievement awards. More information about how you can nominate individuals, teams or services can be found at NYSCP Awards

Conclusion

Looking ahead, the safeguarding landscape will continue to evolve. The forthcoming Families First programme, the anticipated Children’s Wellbeing Bill, and the recommendations from Baroness Casey’s review all signal further changes in how services are delivered and how children’s needs are met.

The NYSCP is committed to staying ahead of these developments, ensuring that our partnership remains responsive, inclusive, and focused on improving outcomes for all children and young people in North Yorkshire.
